U.S.-Soviet Talks Hinted

U.N. Police Force Makeup Is Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union appear to be moving into a major new negotiation on the future makeup, organization and financing of U.N. military forces employed over the world to deal with threats to peace.

The two powers differ sharply on the extent of control which should be vested as a practical matter in the Security Council rather than the General Assembly and on some other issues. But State Department authorities said today they are encouraged by the latest Soviet move and believe that the Soviet government may be ready to open serious negotiations on these questions and to cooperate with the United Nations to a degree unknown in the past.

These officials are trying to assess the Soviet Union's intentions in the light of its split with Red China and the fact that it is facing a loss of its vote in the United Nations because of refusal to pay assessments for past U.N. peace-keeping operations.

Disclosure of the Soviet move came Monday night with the release in Tokyo of a Soviet note to Japan calling for the formation of the U.N. military force under the Security Council, the troops to be supplied by the smaller U.N. members, including Communist countries. The five veto powers of the council would provide funds but no troops.

U.S. officials are still puzzled by the fact that the note was presented first to Japan and made public there by the Foreign Office.

The United States and Great Britain were not given official Soviet outlines of the proposal until Tuesday night.

Anniversary Of Hiccups Celebrated

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Today is a happy anniversary for Lucy McDonald. It is the anniversary of her bout with the hiccups.

The 38-year-old red-haired mother of three says she couldn't be happier. The hiccups stopped about a week ago. Mrs. McDonald received thousands of letters, telegrams and telephone calls after an Associated Press story described her plight. Most suggested home remedies for curing the hiccups.

The remedy which apparently cured her came from a druggist for whom she now works. The pharmacist, Roy Faith, said: "I just gave her a drug which is commonly used. I cannot say what it was because I am not a physician and I cannot prescribe. The important thing is that she is cured."

Mrs. McDonald was a waitress until she lost her job because waitresses aren't supposed to hiccup constantly. She tried several other jobs. Each time she was discharged because of the hiccups.

She now works behind the soda fountain in the drug store.

Blasts Damage Rights Center

MCCOMB, Miss. (AP)—Three explosions "like gunshots, only much louder" damaged a civil rights "freedom house" in this southwest Mississippi city before dawn today.

Two civil rights workers—one of them a white summer volunteer — were slightly injured. Eight others were asleep in the house.

The McComb Police Department sent units to the scene and a fire truck stood by until it was determined there was no blaze.

"We are making a full investigation," said an FBI spokesman in the agency's New Orleans office, which covers southern Mississippi. The spokesman said agents had not determined what type of explosives were used.

Northend Sewer Proposal Again Debated in Council

Circleville Council is convinced it has a man-sized task on its hand in regard to the proposed Northend Storm Sewer improvement.

This was evidenced last night when the solons approved a motion to launch new legislation on the project. It marked the second meeting in a row in which the sewer proposal emerged as a major discussion item.

The proposed project, outlined last year, was brought to a near standstill when numerous residents of the area filed complaints protesting mainly the manner in which the district would be assessed. Failure to formulate an active equalizing board to hear the complaints played a part in the halt.

Councilmen, claiming that the project is not a dead issue, indicated their next step will be to properly designate a three-member equalizing board to hear complaints.

IF AN equalizing board is formed, several alternatives may become likely. The city may decide to stay with its original plan or it may determine to change the area to be served and map a new district.

Regardless of future action taken, Solicitor Kenneth Robbins noted that it would be advisable for him to contact the city's bond counsel concerning steps that should be pursued. The bond firm is headquartered in Cleveland.

An adequate storm sewer system in the area has been a problem of long standing in City Council. Most of the lawmakers, and many of the residents involved, feel the system is urgently needed.

However, as councilmen pointed out, the main issue seems to revolve around who should pay for the project according to benefits derived. Several property owners within the proposed service area have claimed they will not be benefited and have lodged complaints to this effect.

The proposed district, in general, includes all or parts of sections north of Northridge Road situated along Atwater Ave. and Georgia Road.

Burgess & Niple, engineer consultants for the city, recently completed a survey of the proposed project based on the feasibility of a reduced area. The study disclosed that a re-

Apportionment Study Planned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-one members of the Ohio legislature, 15 of them attorneys, will go to work on a plan for election of state representatives in areas of equal population.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, announced today the names of apportionment committee members for the far-reaching study. He said they "will be called together" late this month or early in August.

The Legislative Service Commission, fact-finding arm of the General Assembly, authorized Cloud at its July 1 meeting to get started on a plan to comply with an equal-population decree by the U. S. Supreme Court for state legislatures.

The high court also reversed a three-judge U. S. District Court in Cincinnati that upheld Ohio's 1903 "Hanna Amendment", allowing each county a representative regardless of population. The district court was directed to reconsider its decision.

Cloud said he expected the "Hanna Amendment" and possibly other portions of Ohio's constitution dealing with apportionment to be knocked out and said a substitute must be found.

Forty-eight of Ohio's 88 counties fail to qualify for a representative under the constitutional quota system on the basis of the Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decree. They could be combined into districts to meet population requirements.

"The Ohio legislature has never had any jurisdiction in state apportionment policy or district decisions," Cloud said. "This subject has always been fully covered by the Ohio constitution."

"However," he continued, "this committee is appointed for the purpose of giving a study in depth of the proposed effect in Ohio of recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions and to provide proposed recommendations for the 1965 (General Assembly) session."

Cloud last month named 12 legislators to study congressional redistricting to comply with an earlier Supreme Court decision that congressmen must be elected in equally populated areas.

Apportionment committee members, besides Cloud, include: Sens. Kenneth F. Berry, R-Coshocton; Fred L. Hoffman, R-Hamilton; Frank W. King, D-Lucas; C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens; and John C. Smith, D-Montgomery.

Candy Shopping Accord Reached

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—After a show of force, a dozen kids have converted a candy store owner to their way of thinking.

Their way of thinking is that when you are at a candy counter trying to make up your mind you don't like to be rushed.

They considered that Mrs. Antoinette Mufarreh was rushing them in her Noe Hill market at 4001 Noe St. So they marched on the market and protested.

Mrs. Mufarreh agreed they should not be rushed at such a critical time. She went further. Would they like to come to her house for some free candy?

They would. And afterward: "She's a very nice lady," said Kevin Fregosi, 4, savoring a mint.

RFK Lauds Rights Law; Tests Pushed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
While U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy praised what he called nationwide compliance with the Civil Rights Act, Negroes sought to test compliance in cities which have been major trouble spots in the past.

A massive effort at integration shaped up at St. Augustine, Fla., where Negroes said they would test some 30 establishments.

Three groups of Negroes integrated three motels in St. Augustine Tuesday night. There were no incidents.

There was violence at Bessemer, Ala., nine more persons were arrested at Selma, Ala., and a group of national Negro leaders said Sen. Barry Goldwater should see how Negroes live in Mississippi before deciding whether the civil rights law should be enforced by the states.

Kennedy told a conference of U.S. attorneys that general compliance with the civil rights law came about because of President Johnson's leadership.

"He has spoken out," Kennedy declared. "There is confidence in him and confidence in his judgement, and the people have followed him."

At Richmond, Va., two of the federal officials who will be involved in the workings of the law explained to Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. of Virginia just what they expect to do.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and LeRoy Collins, the man named to head the Community Relations Service under Hodges, said the service would merely act as a conciliation force in any civil rights disputes.

In Washington, Collins told senators he look on his nomination as director of the service as the greatest challenge of his lifetime.

"We approach this with charity and understanding and not with malice toward anyone," he told the Senate Commerce Committee at a hearing on his nomination for the $22,500-a-year job.

A Negro teen-ager said at Bessemer, Ala., that he and four companions were beaten by white men with baseball bats when the Negroes took seats at a white lunch counter. One youth was treated for head cuts. The others apparently were not

Romney Urges GOP To Help U.S. Consumer

Rights, Extremism Also Touched on By Michigan Chief

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan today called on Republican platform drafters to "remember the forgotten man" — the American consumer.

In his prepared statement to the GOP platform committee, Romney also dealt with the issues of civil rights legislation and "extremism." In doing so, he avoided phrases over which backers of two leading candidates for president—Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. William W. Scranton—have been scrapping.

Romney praised Republican leadership in helping enact the civil rights law—but said nothing as to its constitutionality.

On the issue of what he called "purveyors of hate," he said, "There is no place in either of our great political parties" for wearers of black or red shirts. Romney mentioned no organizations by name. Some supporters of Scranton have talked of making a major convention fight over a proposed denunciation of the John Birch Society.

Romney's proposed platform said the Republican party "unequivocally repudiates extremists and rejects their effort to infiltrate or attach themselves to our party or its candidates."

Romney spoke of a strong federal effort in behalf of consumers.

One effort in this field, Romney said, should be "an immediate and complete review of excessive concentration of power in the collective bargaining field, and of the conflict between our antitrust laws and our labor laws," undertaken either by a presidential commission or a joint committee of Congress.

"Today the customer is the forgotten man," Romney said. "For the past three decades we have seen the proof of concentrated power in the collective bargaining field, encouraged by a fundamental conflict between our labor laws, which foster monopoly, and our antitrust laws, which exist to preserve competition."

Romney said right-to-work laws, which prohibit contracts under which employees must join unions, are not the answer "because they deny to workers the same organization rights exercised by stockholders."

He said it was time to face the problem in the spirit of Theodore Roosevelt, who moved against trusts, and to "put the consumer back in the driver's seat economically."

Romney said what he called the trend toward concentrating power in Washington must be met by enabling state governments to handle more problems and requiring them to do a better job.

The platform committee today reached the midpoint in its pre-convention hearings. Thursday and Friday, Scranton and Goldwater take the stand.

Juvenile Drinking Problems Pondered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—One of every four citations issued by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control in the past year involves juveniles. Enforcement officials want to know why and what can be done about it.

Civic and school leaders, law enforcement agencies, judges and professional associations have been asked to analyze juvenile drinking in their areas and suggest possible solutions.

The first court ruling on a case arising out of the mayor's two-week-old crackdown on violators is due Friday.

Nine Negro youths were arrested on a variety of charges at Selma, Ala., where a voter registration campaign is under way.

Eleven leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People continued their tour of Mississippi, cracking racial barriers en route, including two plush resort hotels at Biloxi.

They set a telegram to Goldwater, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, urging him to visit Mississippi and see conditions under which Negroes live in that state.

They charged Negroes "are being intimidated, terrorized and are afraid to exercise their basic right to register and vote."

Volunteer Fireman Says He's Arsonist

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP) — A 23-year-old volunteer fireman, who was too prompt in arriving for service, has admitted setting five fires in the last two months, Seneca County sheriff's deputies reported.

Donald Gene Yoder, a member of the Kansas Volunteer Fire Department, is being held in the Seneca County jail after admitting the fires after questioning.

Deputies said Yoder became a suspect when he continually was the first fireman to report for duty on the early-morning blazes.

All five fires, including one Tuesday in which five Arabian horses were killed, started between 3 and 5 a. m. All were in the Kansas area northwest of here.

Yoder was quoted as saying he set fire to barns on May 7, and June 12, June 22 and Tuesday. Also he admitted setting fire to the Liberty Township house June 12, deputies said.

There were no serious injuries in any of the fires. He gave no reason for his actions.

Barry Shrugs At Platform

Statement Causes No Worry, Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater isn't worried about the Republican party platform, his campaign director said today.

Denison Kitchel said in an interview he doesn't think the forces opposing the senator in his front-running bid for the GOP presidential nomination have enough delegate strength to win adoption of platform planks aimed at embarrassing the Arizona.

Goldwater takes his conservative case to the resolutions committee Friday morning. He will fly to San Francisco Thursday.

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton has demanded platform planks repudiating "extremist groups of both the left and the right" with a specific condemnation of the John Birch Society; and declaring the constitutionality of the new Civil Rights Act.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller seconded those proposals before the committee in San Francisco Tuesday but stopped short of calling for specific condemnation of the Birch Society, which describes itself as an "educational army—dedicated to opposing the Communist conspiracy."

Goldwater has said he disagrees with the leaders of the Birch Society, but declared in San Francisco March 15: "I will take the support of any American who is not a Communist."

He voted against the civil rights bill on grounds two sections were unconstitutional.

Kitchel said a plank affirming constitutionality of the new law would be ridiculous because that is a judicial question, not a political one.

He said the suggestion that extremist groups be denounced would turn the platform into a long list of organizations.

Greenfield To Lose 2 Passenger Trains

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP)—The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad says it will discontinue its main-line passenger-mail trains Nos. 23 and 30 through Greenfield this Saturday.

The B&O announced discontinuance of the trains Tuesday after receiving authorization from the interstate commerce commission because of operating losses and lack of passenger patronage.

Foe Condemns Barry's View

Civil Rights Issue Seems To Dwindle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton's backers hammered at Sen. Barry Goldwater's towering claim on the GOP presidential nomination with a can't-win assault today, as prospects for a civil rights fight dwindled.

Goldwater's declaration in an interview published in a German news magazine that "as of now" no Republican could defeat President Johnson was described by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., as an admission that the Arizona senator is resigned to losing in November if he becomes the GOP presidential nominee at next week's convention.

Scott, campaign director for the Pennsylvania governor, told a news conference Tuesday that "I'm afraid they (the Goldwater backers) don't really believe they can win."

"You can't give up before the campaign starts," Scott said. "Governor Scranton believes that he can beat President Johnson. He has won before against odds and he'll win again."

Goldwater said in the interview that, as of today, no other Republican had a chance of defeating Johnson in the South. He added that while he wasn't saying that he could do so at the moment, "come election day there is going to be another horse race." He made it clear in this respect that he was speaking not only of the South but the nation at large.

Scranton, scheduled to arrive here for a mid-afternoon airport rally and news conference, said before he left Chicago that Goldwater's people are using "every conceivable kind of pressure and threat" to keep the nomination away from him.

Appearing on a national NBC television program, the Pennsylvania governor said: "They are trying to create a political steamroller unparalleled for its toughness, its callousness, its total disregard for the opinion of rank and file Republicans."

Contending that "every survey taken" shows he is preferred by Republicans as the nominee over the Arizona senator, Scranton continued:

"Senator Goldwater's managers know this, so they have undertaken a no-holds-barred campaign to see to it that the delegates at the convention do not reflect the wishes of the people back home."

In the same vein, Scott said the Goldwater delegates are "under the iron whip of discipline" not to demonstrate in any way that they and others already in San Francisco are, as he put it, "the most unhappy group of delegates ever gathered for a convention."

Quints' Mom Is Expecting

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer will need another crib in their new 20-room home being built southwest of Aberdeen.

The parents of America's only quintuplets are expecting another child, reportedly around the time of the quint's first birthday, Sept. 14.

Mrs. Fischer told the Aberdeen American-News she would make no formal announcement of the long-rumored pregnancy. "Everyone knows it anyway."

The quint's—four girls and a boy—were born nearly 10 months ago. The Fischers have five other children.

They live in a rented home in Aberdeen while their new farm dwelling is under construction. Fischer expects to enter the cattle business on their 800-acre tract but is still working at a wholesale grocery firm.

Antigambling Statute Is Ruled Legal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court today upheld state anti-gambling laws, banning the printing and sale of numbers game slips.

The 5-2 decision came in the case involving Lisbon Sales Book Co. and its officers.

Columbiana County Common Pleas Court had held the 1961 act unconstitutional, but an appellate court reversed and said indictments against company officials were valid.

Charged in the printing and sale of "policy" slips were Martin Sufirin, company president; Isadore Sufirin, vice president; Joseph Sufirin, secretary-treasurer, and Michael Schiedlmeier, general manager, all of Pittsburgh.

The anti-gambling laws were enacted to combat an estimated $100-million-a-year numbers gambling racket in Ohio. They provide a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and three years in prison.

As a result of today's high court decision, company officials face trial in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court on charges of printing and selling numbers slips.

Woman Runs Man Down With Auto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Police found a dying man—a mass of fractures—on the North-South Freeway beneath the 11th Avenue bridge early today and charged a 38-year-old woman with murder.

Officers said Merle McCarty, 40, of Columbus plunged off the bridge, falling about 25 feet. He died shortly after arrival at University Hospital.

Viola Beck of Columbus was charged with first-degree murder. Police accused her of ramming the victim with an automobile, pushing him off the bridge where he had been watching traffic below.

The woman had left the scene at the time police noticed the victim on the pavement of Interstate 71. She returned a few minutes later and was arrested.

Police said the two, who were acquainted, had quarreled and the woman ran McCarty down after he refused to get in the car with her when she drove by and stopped for him.

Grocer Fires On Mayor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus grocer, one of 270 merchants cited for violating the state Sunday closing law here the past two weeks, has announced plans to circulate petitions aimed at ousting Mayor Maynard Sensenbrenner.

Nick Cua, a long-time grocery operator on the North Side, says he seeks to obtain 25,000 signatures to oust Sensenbrenner because of what he termed the mayor's "Gestapo tactics" in enforcing the law.

Cua charged that two policemen entered his store Sunday and hid behind an ice cream freezer awaiting customer purchases. Cua was cited for "selling a bag of potato chips to a 16-year-old boy."

He said it was time to face the problem in the spirit of Theodore Roosevelt, who moved against trusts, and to "put the consumer back in the driver's seat economically."

Romney said what he called the trend toward concentrating power in Washington must be met by enabling state governments to handle more problems and requiring them to do a better job.

The platform committee today reached the midpoint in its pre-convention hearings. Thursday and Friday, Scranton and Goldwater take the stand.

Juvenile Drinking Problems Pondered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—One of every four citations issued by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control in the past year involves juveniles. Enforcement officials want to know why and what can be done about it.

Civic and school leaders, law enforcement agencies, judges and professional associations have been asked to analyze juvenile drinking in their areas and suggest possible solutions.

Nine Negro youths were arrested on a variety of charges at Selma, Ala., where a voter registration campaign is under way.

Eleven leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People continued their tour of Mississippi, cracking racial barriers en route, including two plush resort hotels at Biloxi.

They set a telegram to Goldwater, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, urging him to visit Mississippi and see conditions under which Negroes live in that state.

They charged Negroes "are being intimidated, terrorized and are afraid to exercise their basic right to register and vote."

Scranton Hits Can't-Win Idea

TAKES STAND ON PLATFORM — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller opens an anti-Goldwater attack at the first Republican platform hearing in San Francisco while Rep. Melvin Laird, committee chairman, listens. Rockefeller called for proposals to reject extremism and endorse the constitutionality of the new Civil Rights law.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater isn't worried about the Republican party platform, his campaign director said today.

Denison Kitchell said in an interview he doesn't think the forces opposing the senator in his front-running bid for the GOP presidential nomination have enough delegate strength to win adoption of platform planks aimed at embarrassing the Arizona.

Goldwater takes his conservative case to the resolutions committee Friday morning. He will fly to San Francisco Thursday.

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton has demanded platform planks repudiating "extremist groups of both the left and the right" with a specific condemnation of the John Birch Society; and declaring the constitutionality of the new Civil Rights Act.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller seconded those proposals before the committee in San Francisco Tuesday but stopped short of calling for specific condemnation of the Birch Society, which describes itself as an "educational army—dedicated to opposing the Communist conspiracy."

Goldwater has said he disagrees with the leaders of the Birch Society, but declared in San Francisco March 15: "I will take the support of any American who is not a Communist."

He voted against the civil rights bill on grounds two sections were unconstitutional.

Kitchell said a plank affirming constitutionality of the new law would be ridiculous because that is a judicial question, not a political one.

He said the suggestion that extremist groups be denounced would turn the platform into a long list of organizations.

There were no serious injuries in any of the fires.

He gave no reason for his actions.

Negro Sainthood OK

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican's Congregation of Rites has voted sainthood for 22 African Negroes who were slain in Uganda in the 19th century for refusing to renounce their Roman Catholic faith. They are expected to be formally canonized here Oct. 18.

Deputies said Yoder became a suspect when he continually was the first fireman to report for duty on the early-morning blazes.

All five fires, including one Tuesday in which five Arabian horses were killed, started between 3 and 5 a. m. All were in the Kansas area northwest of here.

Yoder was quoted as saying he set fire to barns on May 7, and June 12, June 22 and Tuesday. Also he admitted setting fire to the Liberty Township house June 12, deputies said.

There were no serious injuries in any of the fires.

He gave no reason for his actions.

Greenfield To Lose
2 Passenger Trains

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad says it will discontinue its main-line passenger-mail trains Nos. 23 and 30 through Greenfield this Saturday.

The B&O announced discontinuance of the trains Tuesday after receiving authorization from the interstate commerce commission because of operating losses and lack of passenger patronage.

Foe Condemns Barry's View

Civil Rights Issue
Seems To Dwindle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton's backers hammered at Sen. Barry Goldwater's towering claim on the GOP presidential nomination with a can't-win assault today, as prospects for a civil rights fight dwindled.

Goldwater's declaration in an interview published in a German news magazine that "as of now" no Republican could defeat President Johnson was described by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., as an admission that the Arizona senator is resigned to losing in November if he becomes the GOP presidential nominee at next week's convention.

Scott, campaign director for the Pennsylvania governor, told a news conference Tuesday that "I'm afraid they (the Goldwater backers) don't really believe they can win."

"You can't give up before the campaign starts," Scott said. "Governor Scranton believes that he can beat President Johnson. He has won before against odds and he'll win again."

Goldwater's declaration in the interview that, as of today, no other Republican had a chance of defeating Johnson in the South. He added that while he wasn't saying that he could do so at the moment, "come election day there is going to be another horse race." He made it clear in this respect that he was speaking not only of the South but the nation at large.

Scranton, scheduled to arrive here for a mid-afternoon airport rally and news conference, said before he left Chicago that Goldwater's people are using "every conceivable kind of pressure and threat" to keep the nomination away from him.

Appearing on a national NBC television program, the Pennsylvania governor said: "They are trying to create a political steamroller unparalleled for its toughness, its callousness, its total disregard for the opinion of rank and file Republicans."

Contending that "every survey taken" shows he is preferred by Republicans as the nominee over the Arizona senator, Scranton continued:

"Senator Goldwater's managers know this, so they have undertaken a no-holds-barred campaign to see to it that the delegates at the convention do not reflect the wishes of the people back home."

In the same vein, Scott said the Goldwater delegates are "under the iron whip of discipline" not to demonstrate in any way that they and others already in San Francisco are, as he put it, "the most unhappy group of delegates ever gathered for a convention."

Quints' Mom Is Expecting

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer will need another crib in their new 20-room home being built southwest of Aberdeen.

The parents of America's only quintuplets are expecting another child, reportedly around the time of the quint's first birthday, Sept. 14.

Mrs. Fischer told the Aberdeen American-News she would make no formal announcement of the long-rumored pregnancy. "Everyone knows it anyway."

The quintuplets—four girls and a boy—were born nearly 10 months ago. The Fischers have five other children.

They live in a rented home in Aberdeen while their new farm dwelling is under construction. Fischer expects to enter the cattle business on their 800-acre tract but is still working at a wholesale grocery firm.

GOP Ponders Attack On LBJ's Asian Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many Republican leaders agree that the Johnson administration's conduct of the anti-Communist guerrilla war in South Viet Nam will be an issue in the presidential campaign.

But they do not agree on what line of attack to follow. Some have called for an expansion of the U.S. effort in terms of geography and intensity. Some contend that present policy is all right but that a Republican administration could implement it better. And some have called for withdrawal of U.S. forces or a negotiated settlement.

And at least one prominent Republican, Henry Cabot Lodge, has maintained that he does not see how Viet Nam could be an issue in this election.

But Lodge, who quit as ambassador to the embattled Southeast Asian nation to help the campaign of Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania for the GOP presidential nomination, agreed Sunday that Viet Nam "is a legitimate subject to discuss and debate." But he still did not view it as a major issue.

President Johnson and such administration spokesmen as Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara have made it plain in recent weeks that the United States will continue its efforts to support the anti-Communist government of South Viet Nam. And they have left the door open to carrying these efforts to North Viet Nam.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the front-running candidate for the GOP nomination, has contended that under present policies "We'll be fighting in Viet Nam for a decade, and, at best, we'll end up with a draw or a slow defeat."

He has called several times for bombing of the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas' supply lines from North Viet Nam, Cambodia, and if necessary, Communist China.

Scranton, Goldwater's closest rival for the nomination, has said "we must give all practical support to efforts by the South Vietnamese to end the use of Laos, Cambodia and North Viet Nam as privileged sanctuaries."

Goldwater Managers Use 'Smear,' Scranton Says

CHICAGO (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton heads for San Francisco today to try to upset what he termed the "political steamroller" of Sen. Barry Goldwater at the Republican National Convention.

Scranton has challenged the front-running Arizona senator for the GOP nomination. Tuesday night in a nationally televised political program on NBC the governor accused Goldwater managers of "smears" and "every conceivable kind of pressure and threat" to keep the nomination from Scranton. The convention opens Monday.

Said Scranton: "They (the Goldwater managers) are trying to create a political steamroller unparalleled for its toughness, its callousness, its total disregard for the opinion of rank-and-file Republicans."

The governor declared that "every survey taken shows that I'm leading him in the number of rank-and-file Republicans—Republican voters that is—who would prefer that I be the candidate."

"Sen. Goldwater's managers know this, so they have undertaken a no-holds-barred campaign to see to it that the delegates at the convention do not reflect the wishes of the people back home."

Scranton said the Goldwater forces are circulating a pamphlet "that questions my patriotism." The pamphlet, said the governor, is produced by "extremists" who urge that the GOP convention be deluged with them.

One line of the pamphlet was quoted by Scranton as saying the governor has "a record of actions which prove his softness on communism."

"The American people will revolt against this kind of smear campaign," said Scranton, "and I think the Goldwater managers are insulting the common sense of the delegates to ask them to believe it in San Francisco."

The governor of Pennsylvania referred to an article in the German weekly news magazine Der Spiegel which quoted Goldwater as saying, "I don't think any Republican can win as of now."

The magazine said the interview was obtained June 30. "It seems to me that he has now clearly disqualify himself as the candidate for the Republican nomination," Scranton said.

City Police Recover Auto

Stolen Car Spotted Shortly after Report

Circleville Police recovered a stolen car early today only minutes after receiving a report the vehicle was stolen.

Patrolman Larry Pontious and Sgt. Roderick List were on routine patrol at 5:30 a. m. today when they received word a 1955 model car belonging to William Fuller of Chillicothe had been reported stolen.

They pulled behind a car, recognized the license number and description of the vehicle and stopped it at Court and Main Sts.

The driver of the auto was Kathleen Hill of Chillicothe. A passenger in the car was DeLores Blankenship of Columbus.

Both were arrested and held for Chillicothe Police.

Reds Shift Drive Center In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Communists have shifted the center of their war effort in South Viet Nam from the swampy Mekong delta to the central highlands in the past 10 days.

Senior Vietnamese officers believe the Reds have moved troops in from North Viet Nam to get the war momentum moving the highlands, a region that has been relatively quiet in the past 18 months.

In the past week, three battalion-size Communist assaults have erupted out of the central mountains. Two isolated special forces camps were hit.

Newsmen in the central Viet Nam capital of Hue were told Tuesday that the Communist battalion that hit the special force outpost of Nam Dong Monday had just moved in from North Viet Nam. The Communist unit was beaten off, but with severe government losses.

Two other Viet Cong attacks were launched in the region Monday. Vietnamese officers say one of the attacking battalions moved into Viet Nam recently from Laos. Another battalion had come into Viet Nam from the Cambodia-Laos area late last year.

An American spokesman told newsmen in Saigon that he was baffled as to the real reason for the sudden concentration of Viet Cong effort in the central area.

Westfall Hires New Teachers

Three teachers have been employed by the Westfall School District Board of Education, it was announced today by Jud Lanman, executive head.

Mrs. Mary Lee Stevens was hired to teach first grade at Darby. A graduate of Marshall College in Huntington, W. Va., she has four years experience. She lives in Williamsport.

John Wright, a graduate of Ohio State University, will teach physics and chemistry at the high school. He has 14 years experience. He lives in Clarksburg.

Mrs. Doris Luna, Circleville, has been employed to teach art on a parttime basis at the new high school. She received a degree from Murray University in Tennessee. She also attended Memphis State and the University of Tennessee.

Washington Unit Sets Open Meet

The Washington Grange will hold an open meeting 6:30 p. m. Tuesday at Washington Twp. School.

A basket dinner will be held preceding the meeting and program.

Rothman's To Observe Anniversary

Rothman's Department Store, Pickaway and Franklin Sts., will observe its 74th anniversary as a Circleville business firm with a special sales event scheduled to start tomorrow.

Rated the oldest continuous department store in Circleville and Pickaway County, the business was opened here in 1890 by Henry Rothman. He launched his venture with a "pack of goods" on his back.

According to family history, the business progressed to the small wagon stage, then a large wagon. Next came a small store at Union and Pickaway Sts. and later a warehouse was added at Mound and Pickaway.

The firm's present store was constructed in 1916. It has been in continual operation at the same location since then.

Several remodeling and enlarging projects have followed since the present store was opened under the management of Edward Rothman. A son of the founder, he died in 1958.

Nat Lefko, a current owner and operator of the store, has been associated with the firm for more than 20 years. Several store enlargements were carried out under his guidance.

Lefko today extended gratitude to the many city and county families that have patronized the store through the years. He said several of them are five-generation customers.

UN Aide Calls For Parley On Viet Nam

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U. Thant called today for a new Geneva conference on Viet Nam. He said that "even at this late hour" a conference might offer some chance of a solution to end the war there.

Thant told a news conference that if an agreement were worked up by the parties principally concerned, the United Nations could play a role in seeing that the agreement is carried out.

"When I read of the death of an American or a Vietnamese, my heart bleeds," he said. "To me it makes no difference whether a man killed is an American or a Vietnamese. That is why for 10 years I have felt and still feel that military measures will not bring about peace in Viet Nam."

He added that in his view the "only sensible alternative is the political and diplomatic method of negotiation which even at this late hour may offer some chance of a solution."

"I still feel that a return to the Geneva conference table may produce some useful results."

They held a news conference prior to his departure next Tuesday on a trip to Europe, Africa and Asia. He plans to see Premier Khrushchev in Moscow and President Charles de Gaulle in Paris.

He described as "a very good augury for future negotiations," the Soviet proposal for creation of a U.N. peace force.

Canine Skipper Of Boat 'Fined'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Three Coast Guardsmen wrestled command of a drifting cabin cruiser from a protesting dog Tuesday.

Police said the dog's owner, Don R. Hammit, had gone ashore and forgot to tie up the boat, which drifted into San Francisco Bay. Hammit and the dog, Keeki, were pinched.

Hammit, charged with drunkenness and mischief, went free on $68 bail. The erstwhile canine skipper was sprung for $3.50, the standard fee for impounded animals.

Bolton Names His Campaign Head Here

Congressman Oliver P. Bolton, Republican candidate for congressman-at-large, today named G. Ninde Lawson, Knollwood Village, as his Pickaway County campaign chairman.

Lawson, local manager of Columbia Gas of Ohio, was chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce "Meet the Candidates Rally" and headed the Chamber of Commerce's non-partisan voter registration drive conducted in April.

He served as an instructor for two years in Columbia Gas of Ohio's Public Affairs Workshops. This year he led the local Chamber of Commerce action course in practical politics.

Lawson is vice chairman of the Pickaway County Community Fund, public affairs chairman of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce and is active in Rotary, Eagles and Boy Scouts.

CONGRESSMAN Bolton, currently serving his third term in Congress, represents the 11th Congressional District and is a member of the House Banking and Currency Committee.

He served as director of commerce of the State of Ohio in 1957. Formerly a practicing attorney and newspaper publisher, he severed his business connections shortly after entering the House.

The congressman, his wife and their three children live in Mentor, O.

Stocks Drift From Peak

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market retreated somewhat early this afternoon from its historic peak.

Prices were generally sluggish in moderately active trading.

Wall Street wasn't worried about the stalling of the advance that sent the averages to successive highs. Brokers felt that a breathing spell was in order.

Some specialty issues showed good gains in a list that was generally mixed.

Tobaccos, utilities and drugs were the only groups able to stay in the plus column.

Rails were hit by profit-taking. Pennsylvania Railroad lost nearly a point while most of the other carriers were off fractions.

Steels were weak with only Bethlehem managing a small gain.

Utilities showed strength as the Dow Jones utilities average topped the old record set in 1929. The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had declined .2 to 317.1 with industrials off .1, rails off .2 and utilities unchanged.

duction of the area might lower the total cost, but noted that tentative assessments on remaining land to be serviced would have to be increased.

THE TOTAL estimated cost was set at $185,129 in 1963. The reduced area cost, as recently submitted, amounted to $175,441.24. The city's portion of the financing would be in the neighborhood of $21,000.

Frank Baum, representing Burgess & Niple, was present last night to express engineering views on the proposal. Further deliberation is expected when Council meets for its next session.

In other discussion, solon Boyd Horn charged that the Pennsylvania Railroad has not repaired crossing here as promised. John Jenkins of the safety committee told fellow lawmakers that steps will be taken to press accusations already filed with the County Prosecutor against the railroad.

The charges, contending lack of repair on crossings, were filed several months ago under provisions of a city ordinance.

Goldwater Managers Use 'Smear,' Scranton Says

CHICAGO (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton heads for San Francisco today to try to upset what he termed the "political steamroller" of Sen. Barry Goldwater at the Republican National Convention.

Scranton said the Goldwater forces are circulating a pamphlet "that questions my patriotism." The pamphlet, said the governor, is produced by "extremists" who urge that the GOP convention be deluged with them.

One line of the pamphlet was quoted by Scranton as saying the governor has "a record of actions which prove his softness on communism."

"The American people will revolt against this kind of smear campaign," said Scranton, "and I think the Goldwater managers are insulting the common sense of the delegates to ask them to believe it in San Francisco."

The governor of Pennsylvania referred to an article in the German weekly news magazine Der Spiegel which quoted Goldwater as saying, "I don't think any Republican can win as of now."

The magazine said the interview was obtained June 30. "It seems to me that he has now clearly disqualified himself as the candidate for the Republican nomination," Scranton said.

Docket Lists Seven Cases

The Circleville Municipal Court traffic docket today listed seven motorists, six of whom were charged with exceeding the speed limit.

Forfeiting a $24 bond posted for passing another vehicle at an intersection was Everett Welch, 37, Route 3.

Speeding motorists were: Joe Earnhart, 22, Logan; $6 and costs for speeding 41 miles per hour in a 35 mile zone.

Dwight E. Pence, 20, Chillicothe; $10 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Herman F. Tackett, 38, Crown, W. Va.; $15 and costs for speeding 65 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Wayne Swepston, 33, Laurelville; $8 and costs for speeding 43 miles per hour in a 35 mile zone.

William Erlenback, 20, Columbus; $15 and costs for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Robert Bucy, 30, Columbus; $19 bond forfeiture for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Radio Is Stolen

Circleville Police received a complaint today from the Risch Drug store that a transistor radio valued at $39.95 had been stolen during the weekend.

City Police Recover Auto

Stolen Car Spotted Shortly after Report

Circleville Police recovered a stolen car early today only minutes after receiving a report the vehicle was stolen.

Patrolman Larry Pontious and Sgt. Roderick List were on routine patrol at 5:30 a. m. today when they received word a 1955 model car belonging to William Fuller of Chillicothe had been reported stolen.

They pulled behind a car, recognized the license number and description of the vehicle and stopped it at Court and Main Sts.

The driver of the auto was Kathleen Hill of Chillicothe. A passenger in the car was DeLore Blankenship of Columbus.

Both were arrested and held for Chillicothe Police.

Reds Shift Drive Center In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Communists have shifted the center of their war effort in South Viet Nam from the swampy Mekong delta to the central highlands in the past 10 days.

Senior Vietnamese officers believe the Reds have moved troops in from North Viet Nam to get the war momentum moving the highlands, a region that has been relatively quiet in the past 18 months.

In the past week, three battalion-size Communist assaults have erupted out of the central mountains. Two isolated special forces camps were hit.

Newsmen in the central Viet Nam capital of Hue were told Tuesday that the Communist battalion that hit the special force outpost of Nam Dong Monday had just moved in from North Viet Nam. The Communist unit was beaten off, but with severe government losses.

Two other Viet Cong attacks were launched in the region Monday. Vietnamese officers say one of the attacking battalions moved into Viet Nam recently from Laos. Another battalion had come into Viet Nam from the Cambodia-Laos area late last year.

An American spokesman told newsmen in Saigon that he was baffled as to the real reason for the sudden concentration of Viet Cong effort in the central area.

Westfall Hires New Teachers

Three teachers have been employed by the Westfall School District Board of Education, it was announced today by Jud Lanman, executive head.

Mrs. Mary Lee Stevens was hired to teach first grade at Darby. A graduate of Marshall College in Huntington, W. Va., she has four years experience. She lives in Williamsport.

John Wright, a graduate of Ohio State University, will teach physics and chemistry at the high school. He has 14 years experience. He lives in Clarksburg.

Mrs. Doris Luna, Circleville, has been employed to teach art on a parttime basis at the new high school. She received a degree from Murray University in Tennessee. She also attended Memphis State and the University of Tennessee.

Washington Unit Sets Open Meet

The Washington Grange will hold an open meeting 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at Washington Twp. School.

A basket dinner will be held preceding the meeting and program.

The Rev. John Morgan of the Ashville EUB Church will show pictures of his recent trip to the Holy Land.

All members are urged to attend and bring friends.

Rothman's To Observe Anniversary

Rothman's Department Store, Pickaway and Franklin Sts., will observe its 74th anniversary as a Circleville business firm with a special sales event scheduled to start tomorrow.

Rated the oldest continuous department store in Circleville and Pickaway County, the business was opened here in 1890 by Henry Rothman. He launched his venture with a "pack of good" on his back.

According to family history, the business progressed to the small wagon stage, then a large wagon. Next came a small store at Union and Pickaway Sts. and later a warehouse was added at Mound and Pickaway.

The firm's present store was constructed in 1916. It has been in continual operation at the same location since then.

Several remodeling and enlarging projects have followed since the present store was opened under the management of Edward Rothman. A son of the founder, he died in 1958.

Nat Lefko, a current owner and operator of the store, has been associated with the firm for more than 20 years. Several store enlargements were carried out under his guidance.

Lefko today extended gratitude to the many city and county families that have patronized the store through the years. He said several of them are five-generation customers.

Bolton Names His Campaign Head Here

Congressman Oliver P. Bolton, Republican candidate for congressman - at - large, today named G. Ninde Lawson, Knollwood Village, as his Pickaway County campaign chairman.

Lawson, local manager of Columbia Gas of Ohio, was chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce "Meet the Candidates Rally" and headed the Chamber of Commerce's non-partisan voter registration drive conducted in April.

He served as an instructor for two years in Columbia Gas of Ohio's Public Affairs Workshops. This year he led the local Chamber of Commerce action course in practical politics.

Lawson is vice chairman of the Pickaway County Community Fund, public affairs chairman of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce and is active in Rotary, Eagles and Boy Scouts.

CONGRESSMAN Bolton, currently serving his third term in Congress, represents the 11th Congressional District and is a member of the House Banking and Currency Committee.

He served as director of commerce of the State of Ohio in 1957. Formerly a practicing attorney and newspaper publisher, he severed his business connections shortly after entering the House.

The congressman, his wife and their three children live in Mentor, O.

Stocks Drift From Peak

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market retreated somewhat early this afternoon from its historic peak.

Prices were generally sluggish in moderately active trading.

Wall Street wasn't worried about the stalling of the advance that sent the averages to successive highs. Brokers felt that a breathing spell was in order.

Some specialty issues showed good gains in a list that was generally mixed.

Tobaccos, utilities and drugs were the only groups able to stay in the plus column.

Rails were hit by profit-taking. Pennsylvania Railroad lost nearly a point while most of the other carriers were off fractions.

Steels were weak with only Bethlehem managing a small gain.

Utilities showed strength as the Dow Jones utilities average topped the old record set in 1929.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had declined .2 to 317.1 with industrials off .1, rails off .2 and utilities unchanged.

duction of the area might lower the total cost, but noted that tentative assessments on remaining land to be serviced would have to be increased.

THE TOTAL estimated cost was set at $185,129 in 1963. The reduced area cost, as recently submitted, amounted to $175,441.24. The city's portion of the financing would be in the neighborhood of $21,000.

Frank Baum, representing Burgess & Niple, was present last night to express engineering views on the proposal. Further deliberation is expected when Council meets for its next session.

In other discussion, solon Boyd Horn charged that the Pennsylvania Railroad has not repaired crossing here as promised. John Jenkins of the safety committee told fellow lawmakers that steps will be taken to press accusations already filed with the County Prosecutor against the railroad.

The charges, contending lack of repair on crossings, were filed several months ago under provisions of a city ordinance.

Too Much Freedom?

The Democratic majority of a House Banking subcommittee recommends that the freedom of the Federal Reserve Board be curtailed. The committee doesn't go along with all the reforms demanded by Chairman Patman, but its recommendations, if adopted, would subject the board to political pressures that could be dangerous.

To Mr. Patman and other critics it is deplorable that FRB can and sometimes does operate independently of the general economic policy of the government. But that FRB decisions on money supply and interest rates have often displeased "cheap money" advocates is not sufficient justification for departing from a tradition tested by time.

Treasury Secretary Dillon bluntly told the Patman committee that "experience over many years and in many countries has taught us the wisdom of shielding those who make decisions on monetary policy" from all influences except their own best judgment.

Nothing, it seems, can deflect Mr. Patman from his angry pursuit of the FRB, but the weight of informed opinion against him ought to alert more responsible members of Congress to the dangers of tampering with machinery so delicate and processes so complex.

Firmer U.S. Stand

A larger U. S. Air Force base is being built at Danang, in South Viet Nam, part of the pattern to convince the communists that Uncle Sam means business in Southeast Asia. If open military confrontation with Communist China eventuates, the base will come in handy.

If there is to be large-scale U. S. military involvement in lands bordering China, this base will provide a better staging position than that now afforded by the U. S. Seventh Fleet or existing land bases in the area.

Washington hopes that it will have a psychological value. Southeast Asia poses a problem that has troubled the U. S. before — that of convincing the fore that this country is not bluffing. The communists seem to be hard to convince that they will not be permitted to overrun Southeast Asia.

The new base is part of continuing U. S. muscle-flexing, which will be stepped up under the new ambassador and the new military commander in South Viet Nam. Retaliation for any new communist sorties will be more massive.

This base is not a new, untried tactic. Bases maintained by the U. S. in Western Europe following World War II — and in Spain, Turkey, Morocco, Libya — helped prevent the Soviet Union from overrunning the continent.

Whether this will have the desired effect upon Peking no one knows. Red China is engaged in a war of nerves with the U. S., and shows no signs of backing down. If the new base fails in its psychological purpose, its military value will be that much greater.

Festering Family Saga

The story brought to Mexico by Juana Castro, Fidel's sister, which stressed the degradation of Cuba under the Communists, is sordid enough in all conscience. But it is only the social and economic extension, so to speak, of a festering family saga that rivals some of the dark legends of ancient Greece for its Freudian hatreds and evil doings.

It is an indisputable fact that Fidel Castro hated his father. Fidel himself was one of a brood that was born out of wedlock. His mother, a practical lady named Alma Ruiz Gonzalez, was the family cook — and Fidel, along with some of his brothers and sisters, was only legitimized after his father's first wife had died. Juana and another sister, Emma, came along after the cook had become the legally married mother of the family.

The bad blood among the Castros caused by quarrels over legitimacy long pre-dates the revolution, and is thus not attributable in the first instance to ideology. However, though Alma Ruiz Gonzalez loved her sons Fidel and Raul as her offspring, she always hated their Marxism. She even referred to them as "lazy socialist bums." And she had the temerity to say, even after the revolution, that she liked the old dictator Batista for having spared her son's life when a death penalty for treasonable activity might have been declared against Fidel. Because of the old lady's refusal to bow her head to his revolution or to his socialism, Fidel refused to go to her funeral and would not sign his name to the death notice.

The family tangle grows even more disreputable when younger brother Raul's in-law relationships are investigated. Raul's wife Vilma had a sister who was married to an officer. The officer, having fallen into disfavor with Fidel, was either killed or chivvied into taking his own life. Vilma's sister then committed suicide. Raul Castro would not permit his own mother-in-law to make any public demonstration of her reaction to the dark chain of events that had robbed her of daughter and son-in-law.

Juana Castro is not the first sister of Fidel to defect to Mexico. When sister Emma wanted to go to Mexico to be married, Che Guevara, the Communist economic czar of Cuba, refused to give her the necessary foreign exchange. It was only after Juana and her mother made a terrific family issue of it that Emma was permitted to depart.

The family story of the Castros is conclusive evidence that Fidel is a person without heart even when dealing with close blood relatives. Juana was told some of the horrible things which the heartless Castro revolution has done to Cuba. Her defection came at a time when the Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba in Washington, D. C., was busy preparing a dossier on the Soviet military build-up that continues in Cuba while our eyes are focussed on Vietnam. Soviet military cargoes have been unloaded in recent weeks at the ports of Mariel, Taraf, Cienfuegos, and Santiago. Lenin tanks, the newest type in the Soviet armory, have been landed in considerable numbers. Five shiploads of surface-to-air missiles have been put into position. Soviet "mountain tunnelers" have gouged out fifty-seven underground bases in Cuba. And refugees have told of seeing surface-to-air missiles capable of bringing down even the highest-flying U. S. reconnaissance planes. Castro now boasts that Cuba has a bigger armament than Canada.

The budgetary aspects of all this are interesting. In 1964 Castro has approved an expenditure of $221,000,000 for military purposes. This is exclusive of direct aid from Russia. While this sort of spending goes on, the per capita income of the average Cuban citizen has declined from $356 in 1959 to $177 in 1964. It's a real guns-without-butter economy.

Meanwhile the Cuban refugees continue to have bad luck in their attempts to rid their homeland of the Muscovite power. The guerrilla invasion of Manuel Ray, scheduled for May 20, had been timed to coincide with an assassination attempt on Fidel Castro from inside the Cuban National Police. But the assassins' plans miscarried.

Samuel Rodiles, aide to the Cuban Chief of Police, had to flee the country in a motorboat. He is now being held incommunicado in the U. S. Manuel Ray had to call off his landing, for Castro had been thoroughly alerted to everything when Rodiles took it on the lam.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ON THE EVE of a horse show in the Midwest, relates Cleveland Amory, the chairlady, who knew all about such things, came down with a sudden virus, and another socialite, who unfortunately knew nothing whatever about horses, had to be impressed into service. Her first phone call came from a sportsman who had several horses entered.

"This is quite embarrassing," he apologized, "but I'm going to have to ask you please to scratch one of my horses for me." "I'll be glad to," responded the girl pleasantly. "Where?"

The redoubtable Frank Harris, whose "My Life and Loves" is one of the most astonishing autobiographies of our time, gave early evidence of the kind of fellow he was. In 1915, H. L. Mencken commissioned Harris to write an article on Bernard Shaw for the Smart Set Magazine. When the article appeared on the stands, Mencken discovered that the very same piece was featured in a competing journal. Harris had brazenly sold it to two buyers at the same time, defending himself by insisting that it was good enough for two appearances at least!

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Shingles is caused by an infectious — an illness with several aliases. Technically known as Herpes Zoster, shingles is also called Zona (Greek for girdle), because in some cases a bandlike distribution of blisters circle the body.

Shingles caused by an infectious virus which produces this painful inflammation of the nerve endings. Usually the small blisters run along the course of the affected nerve.

These blisters, resembling those of chicken pox, become visible after a few days of skin tenderness, a pins-and-needles sensation, fever and a sense of general discomfort.

Although any part of the body may be affected, the characteristic eruptions occur most frequently on the skin of the chest wall, the thigh, the abdomen and the face.

The disease is communicable and can be transmitted from one person to another by direct contact.

Children are rarely afflicted with Herpes Zoster. The frequency and severity of this disease seems to increase with advancing age.

Shingles may last for a few weeks or even a few months. Treatment is mainly devoted to relieving the discomfort and preventing the contamination and infection of the blisters.

Large doses of Vitamin B taken by mouth are thought to be of value, not as a cure but as a body supplement.

Cortisone and antibiotic ointments are beneficial, but must be used only under professional direction. Immune serum taken from a patient recently recovered from Herpes Zoster is considered to be of some benefit in helping the body combat the disease.

Shingles now responds dramatically to the early use of large doses of cortisone and ACTH. The painful symptoms can be marked and quickly relieved if the treatment is begun immediately.

Often patients make the mistake of applying adhesive tape strappings to relieve the early chest pains of shingles. Whatever slight degree of comfort might be obtained from such an adhesive support is far out-balanced by the damage it does.

When the adhesive is removed, the protective skin covering is destroyed. As a result, the blisters are likely to more painful and their healing is delayed.

The viruses of Herpes Zoster, like all other viruses, are under relentless scientific attack. Spurred by the remarkable victories against polio, measles and other infectious diseases, scientists now look forward to the day when there will be a vaccination against all viruses.

Can You Remember When —

NEW YORK (AP)—Memory, not clothes, makes the man.

Memories mold us to what we are. Take away a man's memories and you take away his personality, his character, in fact his very identity. He becomes a vegetable without individuality.

Memory gives man his sense of continuity and makes him feel a kinship to eternity, and a neighbor to immortality. You've had quite a feast yourself at life's banquet if you can look back and remember when—

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Taking stock after the Fourth of July holiday many sectors of both government and business find themselves healthier than usual. Uncle Sam has about $2 billion more cash on hand than he thought he would.

Steel production slipped much less than it usually does in an Independence Day shortened work week.

Retail sales in many stores were better last week than in the like holiday week a year ago.

Car sales are holding up surprisingly well as the end of the season approaches.

The Treasury has been selling more U.S. Savings Bonds than a year ago.

This country's foreign trade hit a record high earlier this year, the government reports. And now it expects the whole year to turn out better than it first thought, despite the roadblocks the European Common Market might throw up.

Banks have increased their business, and their profits, in the first half of the year. Few see much cause for worry in the immediate future.

And while the banks were increasing their deposits and their loans, they and the finance companies were setting a record high in consumer installment credit extended. At the same time their collections on outstanding debt also rose to highs.

Prices of blue chip stocks climbed to peaks before the holiday, and then topped that performance on the first day after the long weekend.

Perhaps the most surprising of all this postholiday outpouring of better than usual news is the flush condition of the U.S. Treasury.

It has just tallied its books for the fiscal year that ended June 30 and finds it has a cash balance of $10.2 billion. That doesn't mean the federal debt hasn't gone up—it has. But the cash on hand is a pleasant $2 billion more than the Treasury had expected.

Officials explain that government spending wasn't at quite as fast a clip as they had expected. Also, tax receipts were higher than anticipated. Part of this was due to a rise in personal incomes and corporate profits, so that even with the rates cut, the Treasury's take was higher.

Too Much Freedom?

The Democratic majority of a House Banking subcommittee recommends that the freedom of the Federal Reserve Board be curtailed. The committee doesn't go along with all the reforms demanded by Chairman Patman, but its recommendations, if adopted, would subject the board to political pressures that could be dangerous.

To Mr. Patman and other critics it is deplorable that FRB can and sometimes does operate independently of the general economic policy of the government. But that FRB decisions on money supply and interest rates have often displeased "cheap money" advocates is not sufficient justification for departing from a tradition tested by time.

Treasury Secretary Dillon bluntly told the Patman committee that "experience over many years and in many countries has taught us the wisdom of shielding those who make decisions on monetary policy" from all influences except their own best judgment.

Nothing, it seems, can deflect Mr. Patman from his angry pursuit of the FRB, but the weight of informed opinion against him ought to alert more responsible members of Congress to the dangers of tampering with machinery so delicate and processes so complex.

Firmer U.S. Stand

A larger U. S. Air Force base is being built at Danang, in South Viet Nam, part of the pattern to convince the communists that Uncle Sam means business in Southeast Asia. If open military confrontation with Communist China eventuates, the base will come in handy.

If there is to be large-scale U. S. military involvement in lands bordering China, this base will provide a better staging position than that now afforded by the U. S. Seventh Fleet or existing land bases in the area.

Washington hopes that it will have a psychological value. Southeast Asia poses a problem that has troubled the U. S. before — that of convincing the fore that this country is not bluffing. The communists seem to be hard to convince that they will not be permitted to overrun Southeast Asia.

The new base is part of continuing U. S. muscle-flexing, which will be stepped up under the new ambassador and the new military commander in South Viet Nam. Retaliation for any new communist sorties will be more massive.

This base is not a new, untried tactic. Bases maintained by the U. S. in Western Europe following World War II — and in Spain, Turkey, Morocco, Libya — helped prevent the Soviet Union from overrunning the continent.

Whether this will have the desired effect upon Peking no one knows. Red China is engaged in a war of nerves with the U. S., and shows no signs of backing down. If the new base fails in its psychological purpose, its military value will be that much greater.

Festering Family Saga

The story brought to Mexico by Juana Castro, Fidel's sister, which stressed the degradation of Cuba under the Communists, is sordid enough in all conscience. But it is only the social and economic extension, so to speak, of a festering family saga that rivals some of the dark legends of ancient Greece for its Freudian hatreds and evil doings.

It is an indisputable fact that Fidel Castro hated his father. Fidel himself was one of a brood that was born out of wedlock. His mother, a practical lady named Alma Ruz Gonzalez, was the family cook — and Fidel, along with some of his brothers and sisters, was only legitimized after his father's first wife had died. Juana and another sister, Emma, came along after the cook had become the legally married mother of the family.

The bad blood among the Castros caused by quarrels over legitimacy long pre-dates the revolution, and is thus not attributable in the first instance to ideology. However, though Alma Ruz Gonzalez loved her sons Fidel and Raul as her offspring, she always hated their Marxism. She even referred to them as "lazy socialist bums." And she had the temerity to say, even after the revolution, that she liked the old dictator Batista for having spared her son's life when a death penalty for treasonable activity might have been declared against Fidel. Because of the old lady's refusal to bow her head to his revolution or to his socialism, Fidel refused to go to her funeral and would not sign his name to the death notice.

The family tangle grows even more disputable when younger brother Raul's in-law relations are investigated. Raul's wife Vilma had a sister who was married to an officer. The officer, having fallen into disfavor with Fidel, was either killed or chivvied into taking his own life. Vilma's sister then committed suicide. Raul Castro would not permit his own mother-in-law to make any public demonstration of her reaction to the dark chain of events that had robbed her of daughter and son-in-law.

Juana Castro is not the first sister of Fidel to defect to Mexico. When sister Emma wanted to go to Mexico to be married, Che Guevara, the Communist economic czar of Cuba, refused to give her the necessary foreign exchange. It was only after Juana and her mother made a terrific family issue of it that Emma was permitted to depart.

The family story of the Castros is conclusive evidence that Fidel is a person without heart even when dealing with close blood relatives. Juana was told some of the horrible things which the heartless Castro revolution has done to Cuba. Her defection came at a time when the Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba in Washington, D. C., was busy preparing a dossier on the Soviet military build-up that continues in Cuba while our eyes are focussed on Vietnam. Soviet military cargoes have been unloaded in recent weeks at the ports of Mariel, Tarafé, Cienfuegos, and Santiago. Lenin tanks, the newest type in the Soviet armory, have been landed in considerable numbers. Five shiploads of surface-to-air missiles have been put into position. Soviet "mountain tunnelers" have gouged out fifty-seven underground bases in Cuba. And refugees have told of seeing surface-to-air missiles capable of bringing down even the highest-flying U. S. reconnaissance planes. Castro now boasts that Cuba has a bigger armament than China.

The budgetary aspects of all this are interesting. In 1964 Castro has approved an expenditure of $221,000,000 for military purposes. This is exclusive of direct aid from Russia. While this sort of spending goes on, the per capita income of the average Cuban citizen has declined from $356 in 1959 to $177 in 1964. It's a real guns-without-butter economy.

Meanwhile the Cuban refugees continue to have bad luck in their attempts to rid their homeland of the Muscovite power. The guerrilla invasion of Manuel Ray, scheduled for May 20, had been timed to coincide with an assassination attempt on Fidel Castro from inside the Cuban National Police. But the assassins' plans miscarried.

Samuel Rodiles, aide to the Cuban Chief of Police, had to flee the country in a motorboat. He is now being held incommunicado in the U. S. Manuel Ray had to call off his landing, for Castro had been thoroughly alerted to everything when Rodiles took it on the lam.

ON THE EVE of a horse show in the Midwest, relates Cleveland Amory, the chairlady, who knew all about such things, came down with a sudden virus, and another socialite, who unfortunately knew nothing whatever about horses, had to be impressed into service. Her first phone call came from a sportsman who had several horses entered.

"This is quite embarrassing," he apologized, "but I'm going to have to ask you please to scratch one of my horses for me." "I'll be glad to," responded the girl pleasantly. "Where?"

The redoubtable Frank Harris, whose "My Life and Loves" is one of the most astonishing autobiographies of our time, gave early evidence of the kind of fellow he was. In 1915, H. L. When the article appeared on the stands, Mencken discovered that the very same piece was featured in a competing journal. Harris had brazenly sold it to two buyers at the same time, defending himself by insisting that it was good enough for two appearances at least!

Shingles is caused by an infection — an illness with several aliases. Technically known as Herpes Zoster, shingles is also called Zona (Greek for girdle), because in some cases a band-like distribution of blisters circle the body.

Shingles caused by an infectious virus which produces this painful inflammation of the nerve endings. Usually the small blisters run along the course of the affected nerve.

These blisters, resembling those of chicken pox, become visible after a few days of skin tenderness, a pins - and - needles sensation, fever and a sense of general discomfort.

Although any part of the body may be affected, the characteristic eruptions occur most frequently on the skin of the chest wall, the thigh, the abdomen and the face.

The disease is communicable and can be transmitted from one person to another by direct contact.

Children are rarely afflicted with Herpes Zoster. The frequency and severity of this disease seems to increase with advancing age.

Shingles may last for a few weeks or even a few months. Treatment is mainly devoted to relieving the discomfort and preventing the contamination and infection of the blisters. Large doses of Vitamin B tak-

Khrush Appears Having Big Time

By THE APPOSICATED PRESS

Despite all his obvious worries, Soviet Premier Khrushchev seems to be having an enormously good time.

Khrushchev is away from Moscow these days almost as much as he is at home. He looks almost like an executive thinking about retirement and determined to have a final, happy fling.

By his own admission, he feels his age. At his 70th birthday party April 17, he delivered a homily about his gratitude for attention paid him and his determination to work well to repay those who had faith in him. But he added that at 70, "a man hasn't much time left to pay back well for all he is given."

Not long before, he had noted that as he approached 70 he was feeling it and might not be able to hold the helm of party and state indefinitely.

Khrushchev now gives the impression that the machinery of the Communist party and the Soviet government at home runs pretty well without his physical presence.

This year, Khrushchev has been away 10 weeks.

Early in January he went on a hunting trip in Poland. In March and April he toured Hungary.

In May, Khrushchev took a leisurely voyage to Egypt with his family and extended his stay to rest.

In June, he went to Leninograd to meet Yugoslav President Tito, then shortly after boarded the liner Bashkiriya for an unhurried trip through Scandinavia. Khrushchev said in Sweden he intends to "go on leave" to his vacation hideaway on the Black Sea.

While Khrushchev is doing all this tripping about, who is minding the store?

At the top are men who could step easily into Khrushchev's shoes. These include Leonid I. Brezhnev, whose job as president of the Soviet government Presidium is becoming less and less ceremonial; Gennady Voronov, Dmitri Polyanski, Nikolai Podgorny, any of whom could be a prospective new premier.

To run the party he can rely on such men as M. A. Suslov and Leonid Ilyichev, who have long experience with ideological problems.

At the moment, there seems to be no threat to Khrushchev's position at the top.

Goldwater Command Post Loaded with Electronics

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A push-button headquarters crammed with electronic gadgets to see all that can be seen will guide Sen. Barry Goldwater's bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

No candidate has ever equipped himself so well to keep tab on what's going on at a political convention.

Not only that: His committee has purchased time on San Francisco television and radio stations to provide periodic reports to delegates and alternates as well as to the public.

Goldwater is a communications hobbyist, with ham radio stations in Washington and Phoenix. While he hasn't had time to do any tinkering here, he undoubtedly will be happy with the system set up by his staff for next week's Republican convention.

The command post is the off-limits 15th floor of the Mark Hopkins Hotel, where the senator will live in a gold-carpeted three-room suite with a sweeping view of San Francisco's hills and bay.

The system includes: Television monitors for closed circuit cameras that will show where staff members are at the hotel and, when the scene of action changes, at the Cow Palace. A special board will record their whereabouts.

Direct telephones to the convention floor for immediate contact with Goldwater delegations.

A short-wave communications system between the Cow Palace and the Mark Hopkins with some sort of scrambling device to keep the messages secret.

A telephone system for regional campaign directors.

A back-up walkie-talkie setup just in case the other devices break down.

Staff members will be able to reach Goldwater in his suite on a special panel telephone.

Khrush Appears Having Big Time

By THE APPROPRIATED PRESS

Despite all his obvious worries, Soviet Premier Khrushchev seems to be having an enormously good time.

Khrushchev is away from Moscow these days almost as much as he is at home. He looks almost like an executive thinking about retirement and determined to have a final, happy fling.

By his own admission, he feels his age. At his 70th birthday party April 17, he delivered a homily about his gratitude for attention paid him and his determination to work well to repay those who had faith in him. But he added that at 70, "a man hasn't much time left to pay back well for all he is given."

Not long before, he had noted that as he approached 70 he was feeling it and might not be able to hold the helm of party and state indefinitely.

Khrushchev now gives the impression that the machinery of the Communist party and the Soviet government at home runs pretty well without his physical presence.

This year, Khrushchev has been away 10 weeks.

Early in January he went on a hunting trip in Poland. In March and April he toured Hungary.

In May, Khrushchev took a leisurely voyage to Egypt with his family and extended his stay to rest.

In June, he went to Leninograd to meet Yugoslav President Tito, then shortly after boarded the liner Bashkaria for an unhurried trip through Scandinavia. Khrushchev said in Sweden he intends to "go on leave" to his vacation hide-away on the Black Sea.

While Khrushchev is doing all this tripping about, who is minding the store?

At the top are men who could step easily into Khrushchev's shoes. These include Leonid I. Brezhnev, whose job as president of the Soviet government Presidium is becoming less and less ceremonial; Gennady Voronov, Dmitri Polyanski, Nikolai Podgorny, any of whom could be a prospective new premier.

To run the party he can rely on such men as M. A. Suslov and Leonid Ilyichev, who have long experience with ideological problems.

VA Clinic Operation Is Basis for Lawsuit

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 45-year-old old Dennonman has charged negligence in a $250,000 suit against the federal government for an operation he claims caused him to become blind. The suit, filed in U. S. District Court Tuesday by James M. LeMonte, alleges a neck operation at Crib Veterans Hospital here July 23, 1963, caused him to lose his eyesight.

Mercy Hospital; July 6 — Mrs. Ira Carpenter, Route 1, Williamsport, to her home from Dr. Hoffman's office and Jacob Scheiser to Grant Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Morrison visited Mrs. Hattie Rife at Riverside Hospital Sunday afternoon.

The Teays Valley Booster Club met Monday or its monthly meeting.

President Marvin Hicks presided over the business meeting. Reports were given by the secretary and treasurer.

The resignation of Mrs. Art Deal Jr., secretary, was accepted. Mrs. Fritz Kunke was elected to replace her.

The club again will sponsor the food booth at the Pickaway County Fair. Mrs. Fritz Kunke, Mrs. William Sherman and Mrs. Marvin Hicks were appointed as general chairmen for the week of the Fair. Daily chairmen will be appointed at a later date.

The Club will sponsor a card party at the Ashville School July 24.

Lydia Circle of the First English Lutheran Church will meet in the home of Mrs. Richard Black 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

nual dinner meeting at the Worthington Inn.

Present for the smorgasbord were Mrs. Charles Morrison, Mrs. Russell Hoover, Mrs. Dale Schiff, Mrs. Walter Morrison, Mrs. John Sabine, Mrs. Robert Hoover, Mrs. William Plum Jr., Mrs. James Wilson, Mrs. Viola Fisher, Mrs. Wilbur Brinker, Mrs. Clara Rihl, Mrs. Dudley Solt, Mrs. Brooks Campbell, Mrs. Leo Zwayer, Mrs. Frank Baum, Mrs. Everett Peters, Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mrs. E. H. Siegel, Mrs. Clarence Rush, Mrs. Steve Cook, Mrs. Paul Kuhlwein, Mrs. Frank Hudson and Mrs. Jack Lemon.

S-Sgt. and Mrs. Eldon Thomason and Dayle and David, formerly of Gregory Trailer Park, are now residing at Langley Air Force Base, Va., Sgt. Thomason recently completed a six-month tour of duty in Korea.

Swimming lessons will be given at the Ashville Swimming Pool from July 20 thru July 31.

Registration will be conducted the first day. There will be no fee for the lessons. However a charge will be made for use of the pool. Schedule for lessons is 9:45 a. m. for Intermediates and swimmers; 10:00-10:45 for life saving and adults; 11-11:45 for beginners and advanced beginners.

Swimming lessons for adults are scheduled at the Circleville pool beginning July 13. Instruction will be given 8-9 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday for three weeks.

Fourth of July dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Sabine and Susan and Jerry were Mr. Howard Hedges and Buss, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young and Cindy, Marty and Becky and Jon Carnahan. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Calvert and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Heil and Janice and Jeanette.

The following ambulance runs were made by the Bastian Funeral Home this week: June 30 — Mrs. James Riley to Lockbourne Air Base Hospital; July 1 — Kenny Harbarger to Doctors Hospital; July 5 — returned William Darst to his home from

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A push-button headquarters crammed with electronic gadgets to see all that can be seen will guide Sen. Barry Goldwater's bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

No candidate has ever equipped himself so well to keep tab on what's going on at a political convention.

Not only that: His committee has purchased time on San Francisco television and radio stations to provide periodic reports to delegates and alternates as well as to the public.

Goldwater is a communications hobbyist, with ham radio stations in Washington and Phoenix. While he hasn't had time to do any tinkering here, he undoubtedly will be happy with the system set up by his staff for next week's Republican convention.

The command post is the off-limits 15th floor of the Mark Hopkins Hotel, where the senator will live in a gold-carpeted three-room suite with a sweeping view of San Francisco's hills and bay.

The system includes: Television monitors for closed circuit cameras that will show where staff members are at the hotel and, when the scene of action changes, at the Cow Palace. A special board will record their whereabouts.

Direct telephones to the convention floor for immediate contact with Goldwater delegations.

A short-wave communications system between the Cow Palace and the Mark Hopkins with some sort of scrambling device to keep the messages secret.

A telephone system for regional campaign directors. A back-up walkie-talkie setup just in case the other devices break down.

Staff members will be able to reach Goldwater in his suite on a special panel telephone.

Barch-Youngkin Nuptials Exchanged at Lockbourne

MR. AND MRS. RONALD YOUNKIN

St. Matthew Lutheran Church, Lockbourne, was the setting June 14, for the marriage of Miss Barbara Daisy Barch to Mr. Ronald Melvyn Youngkin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Barch, Route 1, Lockbourne, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delano D. Youngkin, Ashville.

The Rev. William Bensch performed the double-ring ceremony at 2:30 p. m. A program of pre-nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Dixie Cummins as soloist and Miss Barbara Kuhlwein as organist.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white gown of silk organza, fashioned with molded bodice and brief sleeves. Alencon lace motifs re-emphasized with tiny pearls scalloped the oval neckline, trimmed the midriff, and repeated throughout the bouffant skirt that extended into a chapel train. Her veil of illusion fell from a queen's crown of seed pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, white roses, and lily of the valley.

Miss Marilyn Hay, who attended her cousin as maid of honor, wore a blue floor length gown of organza over taffeta, fashioned with bateau neckline and elbow length sleeves, finished with a scalloped edge and bow. Other attendants were Miss Marilyn Youngkin, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Sandy Tilley, Miss Pamela Smith and Miss Linda Young. Their ensembles were designed to match the maid of honor's except each chose a different pastel color. Each attendant carried a hand bouquet of white carnations and iris with colored net and ribbon to match their individual ensembles.

Miss Teresa Stout and Miss Sandy Stout, daughter of Mr.

Vivid Colors Improve Decor

By ELEANOR ROSS

The most conservative type of decor is improved by a wild dash of color, chosen judiciously. When you are choosing new draperies or upholstery fabrics, of course it must be kept in mind that a substantial sum of money is being invested. You and yours will have to live with these substantial purchases for some time to come.

For that reason, you can't afford to be too impulsive with color and pattern, no matter how much it may appeal to you. But once in a while, it pays to let yourself go, especially if the color or colors appeal to you both subjectively and objectively.

You get a real lift when you walk into a room that sparkles with something fresh and provocative.

This certainly appears to be the season for a departure from the conventional, at least, in a small way. New upholstery fabrics, especially the woven ones, are literally riots of color — mad colors, bold splashes of oranges, yellows, reds and greens.

In fact, even the most formal upholstery materials are designed to look like uninhibited cotton prints. Damasks, chenilles, cut velvets and materials all reflect this trend. They go harmoniously with any type of furniture, so you don't have to worry about upsetting the "mood" of a room.

Because the colors are so bright and beautiful, you will want to keep them fresh and vivid — and thereby get every cent of your money's worth.

Don't let spots and dirt linger on the fabric until you find time to do something about them. That kind of time never comes, it seems. So apply stiffly whipped suds with a sponge, using circulating motions, the very same day you first notice a spot or stain.

Spot — cleaning with such "dry" suds is simple enough if you do it promptly, before the entire fabric surface has become really dirty.

And while we're considering room decor, it is interesting to note that professional decorators have discovered all over again those beguiling beaded curtains native to the Far East. Even those who can't remember, even dimly, the beaded curtains of the early 1900's, have no doubt seen pictures of them.

It was then the height of fashion in Western home-decoration to curtain a doorway with multiple long strands of wooden or glass beads.

Today, of course, the fringe benefits go far beyond wood or glass. Windows and doorways are curtained in nylon strings of plastic beads, or long, slender ribbons of flexible aluminum. Some fringes, of course, stick to the original bamboo.

In any case, they let in the breezes, but preserve privacy. They also serve as graceful room dividers that occupy no floor space. There is no end to the colorful effects to be achieved by mixing all sorts and sizes of beads.

When it comes to upkeep, the homemaker has it easy. She can just coil the long beaded strands in the bathtub, swish them around in suds, then rinse them off. They can be blotted in a big bath towel or allowed to dangle until dry. Or else, run a sudsy sponge down the length of each strand, followed by a damp rinse cloth, while the beaded curtain is hanging in place.

Ever add a suspicion of nutmeg to the egg-and-milk mixture you use for dipping bread for French toast?

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Ask for Help!

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 15. She ran off with her boy friend, who is 18. They called us the next day from another state and said they were married. They stayed away ten days and then wired me for money to get their car fixed so they could come home. I sent them the money and they came home. When I questioned them about their marriage their answers were very vague, so I became suspicious and asked to see their marriage certificate. They said they lost it. I told them they were not going to share a bedroom in my home unless they could prove they were man and wife. The boy's mother let them stay at her house, and said she trusted them. The boy quit school, can't hold a job and talked my daughter into quitting school to run off with him. I don't think they ever got married, and it wouldn't surprise me if my daughter were in a family way. We are good Christian people, and this is a disgrace. What should I do?

SORROWING MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Ask your clergyman to talk to the young people. And the boy's mother, too. If they are not married, perhaps it would be better if they stayed that way until the boy grew up.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine sold her car last year, and now when she needs transportation, she never calls a cab she calls me. I know for a fact that I have saved her over $100 in cab fares. She has never once offered to pay for gasoline or parking. She just hops out of the car and says, "Thanks a lot."

Last week I got news that some house guests were coming. I was pressed for time so I asked this friend of mine if she would bake me a cake. (She is a very good baker.) She said, "Why don't you order one from Mrs. X? She's in the business." I felt as if I had been slapped in the face! What would you have done?

SPEECHLESS
DEAR SPEECHLESS: I would have called Mrs. X and given her the order. And next time your "friend" calls for a free ride, refer her to a cab company, which is "in the business."

DEAR ABBY: Will you please explain the difference between FORMAL, INFORMAL and SEMI-FORMAL attire for men who want to be properly dressed? Everyone I ask has a different opinion. Thank you.

IN DOUBT
DEAR IN: According to Mr. B. Wien, President of the National Association of Retail Clothing Manufacturers, FORMAL is... the ultimate in formal attire. It calls for white tie and tails, and is strictly for after 6 p. m. INFORMAL calls for suit. Preferably dark. (No tweed or sports coat.) SEMI-FORMAL... requires a tuxedo—sometimes called "black tie." Dark tuxedos are proper for all-year-round wear, but from Decoration Day until Labor Day, white or pastel tuxedo jackets are also proper.

Missionary Society To Meet Thursday

Christian Women's Missionary Society of the Church of Christ (Christian) will meet 8 p. m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. Bob Miller, 107 Reber Ave.

Mrs. Carl Clifton will lead devotions. Guests speakers will be Mrs. Waldo De Vold and Mrs. Hattie Van Vliet, of the Caldwell Church of Christ.

Speed up defrosting your refrigerator or freezer by turning the hair dryer nozzle into areas where ice has built up.

Give bought cupcakes that are not frosted a homemade topping. Blend 2 tablespoons of melted butter or margarine with 1/4 cup honey and 1/2 cup flaked coconut. Spread the mixture on top of the cupcakes and broil until golden-brown.

When you are adding artichoke hearts (cooked frozen or canned) to a green salad you'll find that a French dressing made with tarragon vinegar makes an excellent go-along.

ESTIMATION OF INTELLIGENCE
Q. As a school principal I come into contact with children of various types. Are there any simple tests by which intelligence can be estimated?
A. Psychologic testing is highly specialized but it might be helpful to remember that the average 6-year-old can (1) tie his shoes, (2) distinguish between morning and evening, (3) tell what time school begins and dismisses, (4) repeat 4 digits. The average 7-year-old can (1) write a number of words, (2) distinguish months and seasons of the year and (3) repeat 5 digits forward and 3 backward. An 8-year-old can (1) name the months, (2) indicate another person's right or left, (3) classify in terms of similarity, and (4) read faster silently than orally. Abstraction is a sign of intelligence. The average child under 6 years of age can do little or no abstract thinking. When asked, "What is an apple?" the reply is likely to be, "Something to eat," or, "It is round and red and you eat it." The average 7- or 8-year-old will probably answer, "It is a fruit." Questions that demonstrate ability to do abstract thinking will help determine the child's intelligence.

ASPIRIN
Q. Is it true that aspirin causes internal bleeding?
A. A small, perhaps insignificant, number of people have trouble after taking aspirin. This drug... aspirin is a drug... apparently causes stomach irritation in such persons, and the irritation may be accompanied by blood loss, sometimes in large amounts. However, the vast majority of people apparently tolerate normal amounts of aspirin without difficulty.

We maintain full stocks of prescription drugs... have the professional skill to dispense them promptly... and the reputation to do so at reasonable prices.

Many Months Planning Back of Graham Crusade

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The third of Billy Graham's five major evangelistic crusades this year opens Friday in Ohio.

But behind the 10-day program in Columbus' International League baseball stadium lies an advance planning effort dating back to 1960.

And an advance staff—supplemented with hundreds of volunteers—has been at work on details in Ohio's capital city since October. Others have been, or are, doing the same in San Diego, Phoenix, Omaha and Boston this year.

Bill Brown, a husky Philadelphian laying the groundwork for this July 10-19 crusade, says the Graham organization "only comes if we're invited by a majority of local churches."

He estimates with a smile that there must be enough invitations on hand now to keep the Minneapolis-based organization busy "for about a hundred years."

But he adds: "A lot hinges on how strategic a city is."

He credits the extensive advance preparations for the continuing drawing power of the Graham crusades, which some critics predicted would lose appeal a decade or more ago.

Brown thinks there's more to it.

"People are hungry for something," he said. "The crusade brings the challenge of the Gospel, and they can see that Billy Graham firmly believes what he preaches."

"Some are curious, but a great many come to find a spiritual answer to life. Many come ready to make their decision."

There are those who depart disappointed, he admits.

"Maybe they're expecting something out of 'Elmer Gantry.' There have been changes. Billy Graham dresses more conservatively than he did in the beginning. But I don't think the crusades have lost any fervor."

Brown emphasizes that Graham gets no pay, and that financial arrangements are handled by the host churches. A public audit is published afterward.

Graham's income is from his

In 139 crusades, an average of 2.64 per cent of those present have "come forward for Christ," crusade public relations man Lance Zavitz says. They are referred to an appropriate church in their home area and the Graham organization follows through to see if the local minister has contacted them.

Barch-Younkin Nuptials Exchanged at Lockbourne

MR. AND MRS. RONALD YOUNKIN

St. Matthew Lutheran Church, Lockbourne, was the setting June 14, for the marriage of Miss Barbara Daisy Barch to Mr. Ronald Melvyn Younkin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Barch, Route 1, Lockbourne, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delano D. Younkin, Ashville.

The Rev. William Bensch performed the double-ring ceremony at 2:30 p. m. A program of pre-nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Dixie Cummins as soloist and Miss Barbara Kuhlwein as organist.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white gown of silk organza, fashioned with molded bodice and brief sleeves. Alencon lace motifs re-embroidered with tiny pearls scalloped the oval neckline, trimmed the midriff, and repeated throughout the bouffant skirt that extended into a chapel train. Her veil of illusion fell from a queen's crown of seed pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, white roses, and lily of the valley.

Miss Marilyn Hay, who attended her cousin as maid of honor, wore a blue floor length gown of organza over taffeta, fashioned with batteau neckline and elbow length sleeves, finished with a scalloped edge and bow. Other attendants were Miss Marilyn Younkin, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Sandy Tilley, Miss Pamela Smith and Miss Linda Young. Their ensembles were designed to match the maid of honor's except each chose a different pastel color. Each attendant carried a hand bouquet of white carnations and iris with colored net and ribbon to match their individual ensembles.

Miss Teresa Stout and Miss Sandy Stout, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Robert Stout, Route 1, Ashville, strew pink rose petals down the aisle for their cousin. They wore white floor length dresses made of nylon and taffeta.

Serving as best man was the brother of the groom, Donald Younkin. Ushers were Martin Younkin, Harold Bickel, Robert Kuhlwein and Michael Gulick.

The bride's mother wore a dress of apricot lace over taffeta. She chose white accessories and her corsage was apricot roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink brocade silk dress with white accessories. Her corsage was made of pink roses.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church social rooms. Those serving as hostesses were Mrs. Grace Stout, Mrs. Alline Stout, Mrs. Carolyn Speakman, Miss Maxine Younkin, Mrs. Carole Younkin, Mrs. Marlene Bickel, Mrs. Billie Campbell, Mrs. Ruby Stover, Miss Kathy Campbell, Miss Janet Stover, Miss Carol Gutheil and Miss Laura Norris.

Wedding guests were invited to the bride's home after the reception to see her gifts. Mrs. Caroline Barch served as hostess to the guests.

The bride is a graduate of Nationwide Beauty Academy and is employed at Dulcie's Beauty Salon, Columbus. Mr. Younkin is a graduate of Andrew-Columbus Barber College and is employed in Columbus.

As her going-away outfit the bride chose a yellow two-piece suit with matching accessories. On her suit, a gift of the bridegroom, she wore the removable corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the couple is residing at 4087 Colby Ave., Columbus.

By ELEANOR ROSS

The most conservative type of decor is improved by a wild dash of color, chosen judiciously. When you are choosing new draperies or upholstery fabrics, of course it must be kept in mind that a substantial sum of money is being invested. You and yours will have to live with these substantial purchases for some time to come.

For that reason, you can't afford to be too impulsive with color and pattern, no matter how much it may appeal to you. But once in a while, it pays to let yourself go, especially if the color or colors appeal to you both subjectively and objectively.

You get a real lift when you walk into a room that sparkles with something fresh and provocative.

This certainly appears to be the season for a departure from the conventional, at least, in a small way. New upholstery fabrics, especially the woven ones, are literally riots of color — mad colors, bold splashes of oranges, yellows, reds and greens.

In fact, even the most formal upholstery materials are designed to look like uninhibited cotton prints. Damasks, chenilles, cut velvets and mated-lasles all reflect this trend. They go harmoniously with any type of furniture, so you don't have to worry about upsetting the "mood" of a room.

Because the colors are so bright and beautiful, you will want to keep them fresh and vivid — and thereby get every cent of your money's worth.

Don't let spots and dirt linger on the fabric until you find time to do something about them. That kind of time never comes, it seems. So apply stiffly whipped suds with a sponge, using circulating motions, the very same day you first notice a spot or stain.

Spot-cleaning with such "dry" suds is simple enough if you do it promptly, before the entire fabric surface has become really dirty.

And while we're considering room decor, it is interesting to note that professional decorators have discovered all over again those beguiling beaded curtains native to the Far East. Even those who can't remember, even dimly, the beaded curtains of the early 1900s, have no doubt seen pictures of them.

It was then the height of fashion in Western home-decoration to curtain a doorway with multiple long strands of wooden or glass beads.

Today, of course, the fringe benefits go far beyond wood or glass. Windows and doorways are curtained in nylon strings of plastic beads, or lony, slender ribbons of flexible aluminum. Some fringes, of course, stick to the original bamboo.

In any case, they let in the breezes, but preserve privacy. They also serve as graceful room dividers that occupy no floor space. There is no end to the colorful effects to be achieved by mixing all sorts and sizes of beads.

When it comes to upkeep, the homemaker has it easy. She can just coil the long beaded strands in the bathtub, swish them around in suds, then rinse them off. They can be blotted in a big bath towel or allowed to dangle until dry. Or else, run a sudsy sponge down the length of each strand, followed by a damp rinse cloth, while the beaded curtain is hanging in place.

Ever add a suspicion of nutmeg to the egg-and-milk mixture you use for dipping bread for French toast?

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Ask for Help!

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 15. She ran off with her boy friend, who is 18. They called us the next day from another state and said they were married. They stayed away ten days and then wired me for money to get their car fixed so they could come home. I sent them the money and they came home. When I questioned them about their marriage their answers were very vague, so I became suspicious and asked to see their marriage certificate. They said they lost it. I told them they were not going to share

Missionary Society To Meet Thursday

Christian Women's Missionary Society of the Church of Christ (Christian) will meet 8 p. m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. Bob Miller, 107 Reber Ave.

Mrs. Carl Clifton will lead devotions. Guests speakers will be Mrs. Waldo De Volld and Mrs. Hattie Van Vliet, of the Caldwell Church of Christ.

Wife Preservers
Speed up defrosting your refrigerator or freezer by turning the hair dryer nozzle into areas where ice has built up.

Give bought cupcakes that are not frosted a homemade topping. Blend 2 tablespoons of melted butter or margarine with 1/4 cup honey and 1/4 cup flaked coconut. Spread the mixture on top of the cupcakes and broil until golden-brown.

When you are adding artichoke hearts (cooked frozen or canned) to a green salad you'll find that a French dressing made with tarragon vinegar makes an excellent go-along.

ESTIMATION OF INTELLIGENCE

Q. As a school principal I come into contact with children of various types. Are there any simple tests by which intelligence can be estimated?

A. Psychologic testing is highly specialized but it might be helpful to remember that the average 6-year-old can (1) tie his shoes, (2) distinguish between morning and evening, (3) tell what time school begins and dismisses, (4) repeat 4 digits. The average 7-year-old can (1) write a number of words, (2) distinguish months and seasons of the year and (3) repeat 5 digits forward and 3 backward. An 8-year-old can (1) name the months, (2) indicate another person's right or left, (3) classify in terms of similarity, and (4) read faster silently than orally. Abstraction is a sign of intelligence. The average child under 6 years of age can do little or no abstract thinking. When asked, "What is an apple?" the reply is likely to be, "Something to eat," or, "It is round and red and you eat it." The average 7- or 8-year-old will probably answer, "It is a fruit." Questions that demonstrate ability to do abstract thinking will help determine the child's intelligence.

ASPIRIN

Q. Is it true that aspirin causes internal bleeding?

A. A small, perhaps insignificant, number of people have trouble after taking aspirin. This drug . . . is a drug . . . apparently causes stomach irritation in such persons, and the irritation may be accompanied by blood loss, sometimes in large amounts. However, the vast majority of people apparently tolerate normal amounts of aspirin without difficulty.

We maintain full stocks of prescription drugs . . . have the professional skill to dispense them promptly . . . and the reputation to do so at reasonable prices.

Many Months Planning Back of Graham Crusade

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The third of Billy Graham's five major evangelistic crusades this year opens Friday in Ohio.

But behind the 10-day program in Columbus' International League baseball stadium lies an advance planning effort dating back to 1960.

And an advance staff—supplemented with hundreds of volunteers—has been at work on details in Ohio's capital city since October. Others have been, or are, doing the same in San Diego, Phoenix, Omaha and Boston this year.

Bill Brown, a husky Philadelphian laying the groundwork for this July 10-19 crusade, says the Graham organization "only comes if we're invited by a majority of local churches."

He estimates with a smile that there must be enough invitations on hand now to keep the Minneapolis-based organization busy "for about a hundred years."

But he adds: "A lot hinges on how strategic a city is."

Admit the extensive arrangements for the continuing drawing power of the Graham crusades, which some critics predicted would lose appeal a decade or more ago.

Brown thinks there's more to it.

"People are hungry for something," he said. "The crusade brings the challenge of the Gospel, and they can see that Billy Graham firmly believes what he preaches."

"Some are curious, but a great many come to find a spiritual answer to life. Many come ready to make their decision."

There are those who depart disappointed, he admits.

"Maybe they're expecting something out of 'Elmer Gantry.' There have been changes. Billy Graham dresses more conservatively than he did in the beginning. But I don't think the crusades have lost any fervor."

Brown emphasizes that Graham gets no pay, and that financial arrangements are handled by the host churches. A public audit is published afterward.

Graham's income is from his

6 FB Youths Attend School

Regional Session Held At Ohio University

Six youths of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau have returned from a "learn by doing" Farm Bureau youth training school at Ohio University, Athens.

Participating were Cindy Hildenbrand, Pam Parker, Sue Carpenter, Bob Kellough, Ray Noecker and Bill Moss.

More than 130 farm youngsters from 22 counties in this region of the state attended the summer school.

The program provided the participants with a working knowledge of the democratic structure of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. This in turn developed personal growth and leadership.

CLASSES in group singing and musical leadership were held each day by Ariel Lovelace of Toulaloo College, Toulaloo, Miss.

The youths taught themselves by organizing mock advisory councils legislative and women's committees, Farm Bureau Federation board of Trustees and Landmark Farm Bureau Board of Directors.

Later they organized a house of representatives to see how legislation was developed and passed by the government.

The training school was one of five being held in the state by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation in cooperation with the county farm bureaus.

Ex-Pacific Boss Predicts Win In Viet Nam

HONOLULU (AP)—Don Felt sat in the shade of a breadfruit tree, pensively stirred his glass of iced tea, and talked about Southeast Asia and communism.

Three days before, four-star Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander of all United States military forces in the Pacific, exchanged his uniform for the conservative sport shirt and slacks he was wearing at his new home in a fashionable Honolulu suburb.

Felt's mandatory retirement at 62 came after 41 years service in the Navy. He was Pacific military commander for six of those years.

Felt, in his first interview as a civilian, was asked what a Communist victory in Viet Nam would mean.

"I can't visualize us losing," he replied.

But, he said, "psychologically we'd lose all our Asian friends, and you could hardly blame them. They have their own interests to look out for. They'd have some hard decisions to make."

Felt is heartened by the Sino-Soviet split. "It's always good if enemies fall out between themselves. Now, if only Mao (Tse Tung) and the North Vietnamese leaders got to falling out."

But he wondered how deep the Soviet-Chinese dispute runs. "If things heat up (in Southeast Asia) with the chips on the line, would Russia support the Chinese?" he asked.

Red China could become the world's No. 1 power "if it got control of the breadbasket of Southeast Asia," Felt said. This is the food-and-mineral rich area of Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia and Thailand.

He believes a major obstacle in the fight against Communist aggression in South Viet Nam is lack of leadership outside Saigon. "A big problem is to get people to go into the villages and administer these areas honestly," he said.

The people living outside major cities in Southeast Asia are just now beginning to realize what the fighting is all about, Felt said. He stressed the importance of providing them with material things—a well, a road, a hospital, a schoolhouse.

The admiral thinks the U.S. military effort should be followed up by civilian advisors to help rural populations.

"But all this takes time," he said. "The programs are all there but they have to be implemented."

Looking farther north, Felt discussed the problems of Korea. He made two points:

—The economic situation in Korea is not good. Yet the country is maintaining a large military force that costs the Koreans—and the United States—a lot of money.

—North Korea has built up a modern jet air force, making South Korea vulnerable to air attack.

Felt said South Korea's generals have emphasized to him that the level of their forces must be maintained. If forces are reduced, will the Communists try another invasion?

Felt thinks they very likely would.

Delegates Book Caucus on Monday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some members of the Ohio delegation to the Republican National Convention already are in San Francisco, and several of the state's key political figures plan to head that way Thursday.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, his wife and daughters Sandra and Sharon will leave Thursday on a commercial flight from Port Columbus Airport.

Delegates will meet Monday to decide whether to stick with the agreement to give Rhodes their "favorite son" vote on the first ballot for GOP presidential nominee.

Accompanying the state's first family will be Atty. Gen. and Mrs. William B. Saxbe; House Speaker Roger Cloud of Bellefontaine and his attorney son Clifford, the governor's legal aide; Finance Director and Mrs. Richard Krabach of Lima, and executive assistants John M. McElroy of Columbus and Roy Martin of Portsmouth.

Rhodes, Saxbe and Cloud are delegates-at-large. Krabach is an alternate. Lt. Gov. and Mrs. John Brown of Medina will fly from Cleveland Saturday.

Also leaving Thursday are State Treasurer and Mrs. John Herbert, who go to Cleveland today. State Auditor Roger Tracy will fly from Columbus Friday. Herbert and Tracy are delegates-at-large.

Another delegate-at-large, and chairman of the Ohio delegation, former U. S. Sen. and Gov. John W. Bricker, will leave Saturday from Port Columbus.

C. Stanley Mechem of Nelsonville, Ohio Senate majority leader, and his wife are going to Chicago to board a train Thursday for the West Coast, planning to arrive Sunday.

Already in San Francisco are two delegates-at-large—State GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss and H. Richard P. Niehoff of Columbus, chairman of the Ohio Republican Finance Committee.

Fashion Editor Advises Proper Garb for Powwow

NEW YORK (AP)—Republicans bound for the Republican National Convention in the Cow Palace who haven't locked their suitcases had better re-evaluate the contents.

A cold wind off the Pacific Ocean common to San Francisco in July and August may blow no good, warns Karola Sackel, fashion editor for the San Francisco Chronicle.

Shops and department stores are now preparing to correct packing mistakes, for traditionally more visitors bring the wrong clothes to San Francisco than to any other city, says the fashion specialist, who is thousands of miles from home this week attending previews of next season's collections arranged by the New York Couture Group.

Her advice to those en route to San Francisco contains more don'ts than dos.

For the men: Leave your light-colored suits, madras and seersucker jackets and sports shirts at home unless you plan to visit in the country. You'll need ties, preferably regimental striped or small-patterned. Nearly all places but Chinatown and Fisherman's Wharf will turn you away without one.

Don't bring a hat, unless you feel undressed without one. Because of strong winds, few San Franciscans bother with them.

Do wear conservative, dark-hued business suits with pale colored or white shirts, preferably the button-down-types.

For the women: Leave behind your summer dresses, the springy floral numbers and even your pastel suits.

Don't wear short-sleeved or sleeveless dresses, counting on a fur stole to keep you warm at night. The temperature usually drops around 50, and sometimes even lower.

Don't wear straw hats or carry straw bags.

Small-heeled shoes for day are in vogue in San Francisco, but if climbing steep hills bothers you, take walking shoes.

Take a coat, by all means.

6 FB Youths Attend School

Regional Session Held At Ohio University

Six youths of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau have returned from a "learn by doing" Farm Bureau youth training School at Ohio University, Athens.

Participating were Cindy Hildenbrand, Pam Parker, Sue Carpenter, Bob Kellough, Ray Noecker and Bill Moss.

More than 130 farm youngsters from 22 counties in this region of the state attended the summer school.

The program provided the participants with a working knowledge of the democratic structure of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. This in turn developed personal growth and leadership.

CLASSES in group singing and musical leadership were held each day by Ariel Lovelace of Toulaloo College, Toulaloo, Miss.

The youths taught themselves by organizing mock advisory councils legislative and women's committees, Farm Bureau Federation board of Trustees and Landmark Farm Bureau Board of Directors.

Later they organized a house of representatives to see how legislation was developed and passed by the government.

The training school was one of five being held in the state by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation in Cooperation with the county farm bureaus.

Ex-Pacific Boss Predicts Win In Viet Nam

HONOLULU (AP)—Don Felt, a nameless leader got to falling out.

But he wondered how deep the Soviet-Chinese dispute runs. "If things heat up (in Southeast Asia) with the chips on the line, would Russia support the Chinese?" he asked.

Three days before, four-star Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander of all United States military forces in the Pacific, exchanged his uniform for the conservative sport shirt and slacks he was wearing at his new home in a fashionable Honolulu suburb.

Felt's mandatory retirement at 62 came after 41 years service in the Navy. He was Pacific military commander for six of those years.

Felt, in his first interview as a civilian, was asked what a Communist victory in Viet Nam would mean.

"I can't visualize us losing," he replied.

But, he said, "psychologically we'd lose all our Asian friends, and you could hardly blame them. They have their own interests to look out for. They'd have some hard decisions to make."

Felt is heartened by the Sino-Soviet split. "It's always good if enemies fall out between themselves. Now, if only Mao (Tse Tung) and the North Viet-

Ohioans Head For Powwow

Delegates Book Caucus on Monday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some members of the Ohio delegation to the Republican National Convention already are in San Francisco, and several of the state's key political figures plan to head that way Thursday.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, his wife and daughters Sandra and Sharon will leave Thursday on a commercial flight from Port Columbus Airport.

Delegates will meet Monday to decide whether to stick with the agreement to give Rhodes their "favorite son" vote on the first ballot for GOP presidential nominee.

Accompanying the state's first family will be Atty. Gen. and Mrs. William B. Saxbe; House Speaker Roger Cloud of Bellefontaine and his attorney son Clifford; the governor's legal aide; Finance Director and Mrs. Richard Krabach of Lima, and executive assistants John M. McElroy of Columbus and Roy Martin of Portsmouth.

Rhodes, Saxbe and Cloud are delegates-at-large. Krabach is an alternate. Lt. Gov. and Mrs. John Brown of Medina will fly from Cleveland Saturday.

Also leaving Thursday are State Treasurer and Mrs. John Herbert, who go to Cleveland today. State Auditor Roger Tracy will fly from Columbus Friday. Herbert and Tracy are delegates-at-large.

Another delegate - at - large, and chairman of the Ohio delegation, former U. S. Sen. and Gov. John W. Bricker, will leave Saturday from Port Columbus.

C. Stanley Mechem of Nelsonville, Ohio Senate majority leader, and his wife are going to Chicago to board a train Thursday for the West Coast, planning to arrive Sunday.

Already in San Francisco are two delegates-at-large - State GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss and H. Richard P. Niehoff of Columbus, chairman of the Ohio Republican Finance Committee.

Felt said South Korea's generals have emphasized to him that the level of their forces must be maintained. If forces are reduced, will the Communists try another invasion? Felt thinks they very likely would.

Huge Building Slated To Surround Grocery

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—O. T. Norton, owner of a tiny wood and canvas grocery store, says he has 15 months to go on his lease and he won't move to make way for a 25-story building.

Constructors said Tuesday that was all right, they would just build around him. The store will be in the center of the new structure's plaza.

Fashion Editor Advises Proper Garb for Powwow

NEW YORK (AP) — Republicans bound for the Republican National Convention in the Cow Palace who haven't locked their suitcases had better re-evaluate the contents.

A cold wind off the Pacific Ocean common to San Francisco in July and August may blow no good, warns Karola Sackel, fashion editor for the San Francisco Chronicle.

Shops and department stores are now preparing to correct packing mistakes, for traditionally more visitors bring the wrong clothes to San Francisco than to any other city, says the fashion specialist, who is thousands of miles from home this week attending previews of next season's collections arranged by the New York Couture Group.

Her advice to those en route to San Francisco contains more don'ts than dos.

For the men: Leave your light-colored suits, madras and seersucker jackets and sports shirts at home unless you plan to visit in the country.

You'll need ties, preferably regimental striped or small-patterned. Nearly all places but Chinatown and Fisherman's Wharf will turn you away without one.

Don't bring a hat, unless you feel undressed without one. Because of strong winds, few San Franciscans bother with them.

Do wear conservative, dark-hued business suits with pale colored or white shirts, preferably the button-down-types.

For the women: Leave behind your summer dresses, the springy floral numbers and even your pastel suits.

Don't wear short-sleeved or sleeveless dresses, counting on a fur stole to keep you warm at night. The temperature usually drops around 50, and sometimes even lower.

Don't wear straw hats or carry straw bags. Small-heeled shoes for day are in vogue in San Francisco, but if climbing steep hills bother you, take walking shoes.

Take a coat, by all means.

Curb, Gutter Rule Included On Heavy Council Agenda

City Council, conducting a busy legislative session last night, approved two resolutions and six ordinances.

One of the resolutions was adopted as a directive calling for the construction of curbs and gutters by a property owner at 159 E. Mound St. The owner is Luther A. Ruff.

The resolution specifies that Ruff shall construct the facilities, in accordance with plans and specifications now on file, within a period of 30 days. If this is not done, the measure authorizes the city to have the work done, with the entire cost assessed upon the property owner and collected as provided by law.

Councilmen said curbs and gutters at the Ruff property are a necessity if the city is to go ahead with its major improvement of Mound St. west from Pickaway St. to Scioto St. Plans call for grade work and repaving.

THE SOLONS also explained that three other property owners along the street have agreed to install curbs and gutters in conjunction with the Mound St. improvement.

Solicitor Kenneth Robbins said it is his observation that there could be problems in enforcing the resolution. The measure was adopted on a 5-1 vote, with Boyd Horn casting the negative nod. Solon Frank Barnhill was absent.

The second resolution authorized the filing of the city's tentative budget for fiscal year 1965. It also called for placing two copies of the budget in the City Auditor's office for public inspection, provisions for advertising and the scheduling of a public hearing for 8 p. m. July 21 in Council Chambers.

One of six ordinances gaining passage amended sections of a measure approved last year pertaining to pay for appointed city employees.

In general, the amendment specifies that provisional appointees shall receive 85 percent of the salary called for by the position for the first three months of employment, 90 percent during the next nine months and then the full scale after one full continuous year of work.

Two ordinances concerned making necessary money available for the extension of water mains to the City View Addition in the northend. One measure transferred $32,000 from the Waterworks operating fund to the Waterworks improvement fund. The other authorized appropriating the sum to defray costs of the project.

ERVIN LEIST, public utilities head, reminded that City View residents had petitioned for water service and that Council had obliged by passing the necessary legislation. He also explained that property owners there will pay for the project on a front-footage basis.

Other money ordinances included:

Appropriation of $8,000 from the street construction maintenance and repair fund for payment of wages to employees of the Service Department. The payroll funds are for the third quarter of this year.

Transfer of $2,000 from the major street reconstruction account for the purpose of providing maintenance for Service Department equipment.

Appropriation of $100 to the Service Department for maintenance of gas lights in the Garden City Subdivision. Council had earlier agreed to maintain the lights there in a similar manner by which electric street lights are provided for the rest of the city.

Coroner's Report Due In Death of Infant

CLEVELAND (AP) — A coroner's ruling was awaited today in the death of 3-month-old Beverly Smith. The child's mother, Mrs. Sara Lee Smith, 24, told police her daughter apparently choked to death Tuesday on a plastic toy.

The mother said she tried to pull out a rattle the baby had swallowed but it broke and part of the toy remained in the child's throat. The mother was held for investigation.

'Sidewalk Sale' Plans Move Along

Almost all phases of planning for the third annual Circleville "Sidewalk Sale" have been completed.

This information was submitted yesterday by committee chairman Forrest Thomerson when directors of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce met for their July meeting at Boyer's Restaurant. The colorful sales event is scheduled here July 16.

Thomerson announced that the popular Davis Demons Drum Corps of Circleville has been lined up to take part in the festivities. The smart-stepping drummers are slated to parade at 3 p. m.

Other special events will include a string band that moves throughout the downtown area in a wagon pulled by a tractor. A fun-filled square dance will start at 8:30 p. m.

THOMERSON said a local musical act has been added to the schedule and that the Circleville Art League again will present a display on S. Court St. in front of the May residence.

The Chamber chairman urged all local merchants to plan for good, attractive displays and bargain sales items on the special day. He said most stores participating plan to remain open until 8 p. m. on the day of the sale.

In other business, Chamber proxy Dale DeLong commended

Charles Wellman and his committee for their work and effort in getting the new sign purchased and erected at Berger Hospital. Wellman in turn expressed thanks to the local Water Department for installation assistance and Robert L. Hemphier for his donation of labor.

John Hill, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, reported that his organization has been considering the acquisition of a mobile home headquarters when Santa Claus visits here during the coming Christmas season. Santa's appearance here is an annual Jaycees project.

President DeLong announced that various Chamber committee chairmen will meet July 21 and 22 for a rundown on current and planned activities. The sessions will be conducted in the Chamber office.

The directors moved to provide all possible moral support for the Circleville Youth Baseball program. It was pointed out that the Chamber's by-laws do not permit donations by the organization in cases where individual members are solicited.

MRS. E. R. Bennett, Chamber secretary, reviewed the special institute she attended recently at Michigan State University.

Mrs. Ruth Prather, manager of the local Montgomery Ward Store, was a guest at the meeting.

French Actress Learns Oscar Can Be Expensive

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The French are supposed to be sharp with a buck but Simone Signoret owns an Oscar that cost her some $450,000.

The French actress is back in Hollywood for the first time since she won the Academy Award in 1960 for "Room at the Top."

"Jimmy Wolf the producer offered me a healthy percentage of the picture or $50,000 cash. I took the cash."

"As of now, the percentage would have netted me $500,000."

"We knew we had a good script but when we made the picture in England, there was no one in the cast who dreamed that it ever would be the success it has become."

The movie recently was sold to television—and that best actress Oscar may cost her even more.

Simone is here playing a jaded contessa in Stanley Kramer's "Ship of Fools."

"I had been offered many scripts but I had always admired Stanley's work so when he beckoned, I came. Now that I'm here working for him, I don't like him. He's a slave driver."

But she was only needing the affable Kramer.

This time, she didn't bring her husband, Yves Montand, with her.

"He is doing very well in Paris on the stage in 'A Thousand Clowns.'"

Has Simone got a piece of "Ship of Fools?"

"Mais non," she answers. "But this time I'm getting $150,000 plus expenses. I'm learning."

5 Arabian Horses Die In Seneca Barn Fire

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP)—A barn fire east of Fostoria Tuesday destroyed five Arabian horses, a combine and 300 bales of hay.

Authorities said the blaze at the Kenneth Knox farm was the fourth rural fire thought to have been set by an arsonist in Seneca County in the past month. The horses were valued at $2,000 to $2,500 each.

Russian Farm Experts Believed To Have Found Key to Success

EDITOR'S NOTE — Soviet Premier Khrushchev is depending on great advances in agriculture in his battle to compete with the United States. In the following, second of two articles, Preston Grover reports on Soviet agriculture as seen during five years as Associated Press chief of bureau in Moscow.

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—There is so much of real beauty in the Russian countryside that it baffles foreigners why it produces crops so badly—until they see how the farming is done.

The land is hungry for the care of good farmers, for the deft machines, and the enriching chemicals used everywhere in the West.

Western farm experts believe that the Soviet planners, after years of an unexplained switching from one scheme to another, may have hit on the best program that their political system will allow.

That is the present plan which calls for intensive mass farming of the best lands, with full use of machinery, irrigation where possible, and scientific fertilization.

All that was decided upon last winter and is being implemented with apparent vigor, at least at the top. At the bottom, the level of the dirt farmer, lies the weakness.

The new plan calls for building more fertilizer plants than the country has ever dreamed of until now—enough to increase production from 20 million tons a year to 80 million tons, all in the next seven years. These plants are complicated, however, and don't grow up overnight.

Part of the problem, one of the major factors, is that there is a "brain drain" from the farms into the cities where life is better.

Every year the same complaint goes up, that there are not enough people on the farms to operate them. Yet every big farm I have seen is monstrously overmanned. Often a Soviet state farm will have a hundred times more workers than a corresponding American farm, despite a considerable amount of available machinery.

Nearly 40 per cent of the population is engaged in agriculture compared with 7 or 8 per cent in the United States. American crop production greatly exceeds Soviet production, despite the repeated declaration of Premier Khrushchev that Russia soon will overtake and surpass the United States.

The flight of the brighter young people from the farms tends to make improving farm technique more difficult.

Khrushchev often has complained that as he travels around the country he sees great piles of chemical fertilizer along railroad sidings, while nobody bothers to put it on the land. Soviet peasant farmers rarely know how to use it, while trained agricultural technologists try to get white-collar jobs in the cities.

Numbers of Western observers insist that the Soviet farm problem never will be solved under communism. First of all, the farmer doesn't own the land he is expected to cultivate.

Many still are allowed to farm a little plot of an acre or so, and off these tiny fragments they are producing an astonishingly disproportionate share of the Soviet food supply.

If the big collective farm where a family works happens to have a bad manager or a bad year, the only revenue the farm worker gets may be what he can squeeze out of his tiny little plot. He farms that with loving care, tending the one cow he is allowed, fattening his limited number of pigs and his pen of chickens. Farm managers come screaming to the party meetings that if the farmers would devote half as much enthusiasm to the big collective farms as they do to their own little tracts, the big farms would succeed better. They don't.

Now Khrushchev, having discovered that money makes the mare go, is pressing for more pay for the traditionally low-paid farm workers.

In a long speech, he put it this way: "For us who are building a Communist society, communism is naturally a powerful moral stimulant. But to create that society, to speed up the advance, we must use also the great force of material stimulant, pay more for those who work more."

He openly agreed that for the moment, at least, the great Communist aim of everybody sharing everything, giving what he can, getting what he needs, has got to be revised. There is going to be no leveling out, he said, for the good workers are going to get more than the others.

But such a program sets off a chain reaction of other problems. The more money the farmer gets, the more he can spend in the village store, and the more consumer goods there must be in the store for him to buy. That means more money spent on factories producing consumer goods. And the more money spent on producing consumer goods, the less money there is for fertilizer plants. Next: The rundown revolution.

100,000 Expected At State Fair Opening

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some 100,000 persons should be attracted the opening day of Ohio's 111th State Fair on Aug. 28, and again Sunday, Aug. 30, Manager E. J. Keirns is predicting.

Over the fair's 11 days, a total attendance of three-quarters of a million is predicted. Advance publicity contends "Gov. and Mrs. James A. Rhodes are expected to arrive early and stay until closing every day of the fair."

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—They're on vacation now but even when they're in session the Supreme Court's nine justices never give their opinion except on Mondays.

But this doesn't mean they don't have an opinion now on what the Senate just did to them. They'll never express it from the bench.

Over the years, particularly since its 1954 ban on public school segregation, the court has been denounced, reviled, attacked, criticized, heckled and abused and there have even been suggestions to lynch Chief Justice Earl Warren.

But, undiscouraged and undeterred, the court has gone on making new enemies with new decisions, like the one banning compulsory reading of the Bible and the Lord's Prayer in public schools.

Each decision seemed to irritate some members of Congress where proposals to retaliate have ranged all the way from restricting the court's authority to constitutional amendments to undo what it did.

All came to nothing. The court escaped unscathed, and no one could guess the Senate would hit it in a place never suspected: the pocketbook.

This year the court had surpassed itself in irritating Congress, at least some members of it, by a landmark decision showing how far the court is willing to go, if Congress won't act, to assure equal treatment to people.

It was a decision requiring states to reshuffle their congressional districts from which members of the House of Representatives are elected.

The court wants: the districts revised according to population to give voters more equal representation in the House. "One voter, one vote," is the court's philosophy. In the rearranging some present members of the House may lose their jobs.

But the court's opinion does not affect senators. Each state, large or small, is entitled to two senators. They're elected statewide, not by districts, and population has nothing to do with it.

Oddly enough, it was the Senate, not the House, which decided to get tight-fisted with the justices. Earlier this year President Johnson pushed Congress to pass a federal pay raise bill.

It would mean a boost for more than 1.7 million people on the government pay roll, including the justices, federal judges, members of Congress, Cabinet members and other executives.

To do this the House voted $533 million, the Senate $564 million. Because there was a difference the two houses will have to iron it out. The final agreed on total will be voted perhaps later this month.

So far so good. But the House and Senate didn't see eye to eye on a raise for the justices, eight of whom get $35,000 a year. The chief justice gets $35,500. The bill both houses considered called for raising them all $7,500.

While the House approved, the Senate cut the raise to $5,200, although it voted a full $7,500 for 477 other federal judges, active and retired. Both houses voted themselves a $7,500 raise, from $22,500 to $30,000.

The swipe at the justices was engineered by Sen. Gordon Al-

lott, Colorado Republican, who justified his action by arguing a justice has his pay for life, active or retired, and that he gets a vacation three months a year.

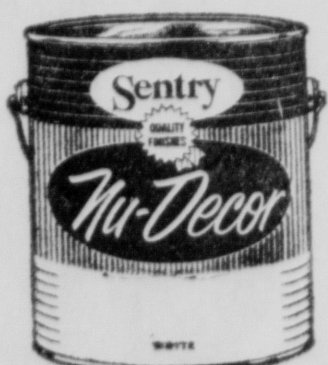

But this is what other federal judges get, too. Another argument he made was that the present $35,000 paid justices was out of proportion with the $22,500 being paid members of the House and Senate.

If the House agrees and the justices wind up with only $25,000 more this is one act of Congress they won't try to knock out. They'd be more embarrassed to undo it than was Congress when it did it.

FAIR'S MOST POPULAR ATTRACTION—With the temperature at a record 99 during an early summer searwave, the most popular attractions at the New York World's Fair for many of the more than 200,000 visitors were the pools and lakes decorating the fair grounds.

lott, Colorado Republican, who justified his action by arguing a justice has his pay for life, active or retired, and that he gets a vacation three months a year.

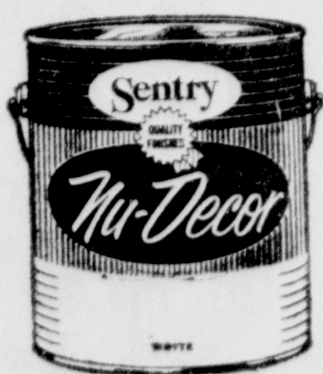

But this is what other federal judges get, too. Another argument he made was that the present $35,000 paid justices was out of proportion with the $22,500 being paid members of the House and Senate.

If the House agrees and the justices wind up with only $2,500 more this is one act of Congress they won't try to knock out. They'd be more embarrassed to undo it than was Congress when it did it.

Goldwater...

Goldwater himself said in his interview with a reporter for Der Spiegel there would be another ball game come October. In San Francisco, Richard Kleindienst, codirector of the senator's field operations, put it this way: "I think by October there will be a complete new concept between the parties."

Scott conceded that, as the incumbent president, Johnson holds the advantage over any Republican. But Scott said Scranton could overcome this advantage and Goldwater could not.

This shift to an attack on what Scott called Goldwater's "no win" policy marked an apparent departure from the strategy of throwing the convention into turmoil over the civil rights plank in the platform.

The Scranton forces found themselves increasingly fenced in in this latter endeavor. It became apparent, in the first place, that Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, who was the man to see about any changes made by the Senate in the House civil rights bill, was being given major responsibility in drafting the GOP platform plank on this issue.

The feeling was that whatever McCulloch approved as a plank would be likely to stand up in the convention as a reasonable statement of the party's position despite any committee minority's effort to change it. McCulloch said only that he believes there is room to compromise the Goldwater and Scranton positions to work out wording endorsing the new Civil Rights Act.

Goldwater voted against the legislation, saying he believes the public accommodations and equal employment opportunities provisions are unconstitutional. Scott indicated he is inclined to compromise on this point if the platform plank describes the law in terms indicating the Republicans believe it is legal.

Convention leaders said they will ask for agreement on an hour's debate in the convention's sessions on any and all amendments that might be proposed there to the platform. They indicated they would force a convention vote—in which Goldwater's backers presumably would prevail—on any effort to engage in any lengthy, emotion-arousing discussion of civil rights.

Michigan Gov. George Romney, who has not joined in the Scranton demand for a statement affirming the constitutionality of the Civil Rights Act, was scheduled as a witness before the platform committee today.

So was Henry Cabot Lodge, former ambassador to South Viet Nam who resigned his post to come home to support Scranton's bid for the nomination. Lodge has said he doesn't see how the Johnson administration's course in Viet Nam could be made a campaign issue.

The reply to this by Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, a member of the Senate-House Republican leadership conference, was succinct.

"Like hell it won't," Brown said. Lodge said on his arrival Tuesday night after some cam-paing for delegates to shift to Scranton in Kansas and Missouri that he was "tremendously encouraged" by his efforts in those two states.

The 1960 vice presidential nominee insisted that while former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has made no public statement, he can be counted as a supporter of Scranton.

Despite this, Scranton's backers apparently have given up hope that they will get any last-minute public blessing from the former president, whose brother Dr. Milton Eisenhower, will put the Pennsylvania governor's name in nomination.

Scranton said during travels in Illinois he was sure Eisenhower wanted him to run for the nomination but "he has said he will not endorse anyone before the convention."

The general belief among the publicly uncommitted leaders putting the finishing touches on the convention program was that there is likely to be only one ballot, with Goldwater as the winner.

The Associated Press poll, showed that Goldwater gained a delegate in the past day or so and Scranton picked up three. With 655 votes needed for the nomination, this left the reading: Goldwater 711, Scranton 151, Rockefeller 102, Lodge 45, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, 15, Richard M. Nixon 3, favorite sons 105 and uncommitted 176—a total of 1,308.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A force of Soviet submarines and supporting ships reportedly cruised through the Mediterranean recently, under close scrutiny of a U.S. hunter-killer task force. The U.S. ships, including one carrier and six destroyers, followed the Soviet subs, took pictures of them and tried to get them to respond to radio signals, it was learned Tuesday night.

Some of the Soviet force entered the Mediterranean through Gibraltar and others from the Black Sea. All are now understood to have returned whence they came.

POND CONSTRUCTION — Don Archer, Pickaway District Soil conservation technician checks the height of the earth fill at a pond under construction at the Russell Timmons farm in Deer Creek Twp. Contractor for the project is C. E. Wardell. The pond will provide water for Timmons' purebred Angus herd.

DIVERSION — This diversion terrace on the Russell Timmons farm will divert water around a 40-acre field into an open ditch to minimize erosion on the cultivated area.

Terrace, Pond Play Vital Roles On Timmons Farm

By STEVE JONES

The Russell Timmons farm on Route 138 along the banks of Deer Creek is receiving a face lifting with the construction of a diversion terrace and a farm pond.

A diversion terrace serves a twofold purpose, according to Pickaway County Soil Conservation Technician Don Archer. It controls erosion and protects low lying ground from excess water.

The pond, although serving a secondary purpose as an erosion control device, is being built for the sole purpose of providing livestock water on the portion of the Timmons farm away from the creek.

The terrace diverts water from a 25-acre drainage area around a 40-acre field. And, as Archer points out, it not only minimizes erosion on the 40-acre tract, it also helps alleviate a drainage problem by routing the water through an established open ditch rather than through the field.

ARCHER pointed out the cubic foot flow of water per second is slowed to a non erosive velocity by a properly designed terrace.

An important facet of building a terrace is the seed bed preparation and actual seeding of the area.

A good seed bed should be prepared and 800 pounds of 10-10-10 equivalent fertilizer applied per acre.

Archer also recommends two tons of barnyard manure per acre be applied.

The area should be seeded with 30 pounds of fescue per acre and then mulched with clean straw. A final recommended operation is to cultipack.

Regular maintenance practices must be observed to keep a terrace in good shape, according to Archer.

IT SHOULD be mowed regularly to maintain a dense sod. Breaks should be repaired immediately and the levee fertilized regularly.

A recent soil conservation study conducted by the local district stated there was a need for 83 miles of terraces in the county.

Terraces have already been constructed on the Carl Hunsinger farm in Muhlenberg Twp., the Dave Bolender farm in Washington, Paul Peck and Elwyn Hulse farms in Perry, George McGhee in Deercreek, Dallas Sykes, Jay Hay and Glenn Hay in Walnut, Cole Nursery and Frank Graves in Pickaway, George and Clarence Maxson in Saltcreek, H. B. Pershing and Ross Bidwell in Scioto, plus many others.

The pond on the Timmons farm is located centrally to best utilize existing pastures. It will provide water for the 25 to 30 purebred Angus cows that comprise the Timmons herd.

The pond has been properly designed, according to the SCS criteria for a good layout.

A MECHANICAL overflow has been designed to handle the excess water. A turf spillway was also constructed as an emergency measure.

The first step in building a pond is to scalp off all top soil in the area. A core trench is dug in the middle of the fill site to keep the pond from leaking and to prevent the dam from slipping, the SCS technician pointed out.

The fill is then built. The material used usually comes from the pond itself. It should be from 30 to 50 per cent clay in order to hold water.

The same procedure for seeding the fill should be followed that Archer has prescribed for seeding terraces.

A new Ohio law requires that all ponds be designed by the SCS or that a permit be obtained from the state division of water.

The ideal drainage area is a permanent meadow. According to Archer, this allows minimum siltation in the pond.

Muskingum Boy Dies From Fall from Auto

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A Muskingum County boy was killed when he fell from the rear of a car on Ohio 376 about 10 miles south of here Tuesday night. The Highway Patrol said the car was pulling a disabled motorbike with a rope when Clarence E. Sines, 16, of near Ruraldale — riding in the car trunk—tumbled out and struck his head on the pavement.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio conditions:

Widespread precipitation which soaked the state Tuesday and Tuesday night continued over eastern portions of Ohio this morning and left behind a thick blanket of fog elsewhere.

At 6 a.m. it was still raining in Youngstown, Akron and Bellaire, and temperatures were extremely uniform. Toledo reported 62, Columbus 64 and Cincinnati 65.

The fog was expected to dissipate slowly this morning, and to be followed by considerable sunshine in most sections of the state today. But there was a chance of some widely scattered showers breaking out again this afternoon, especially in the southern portions.

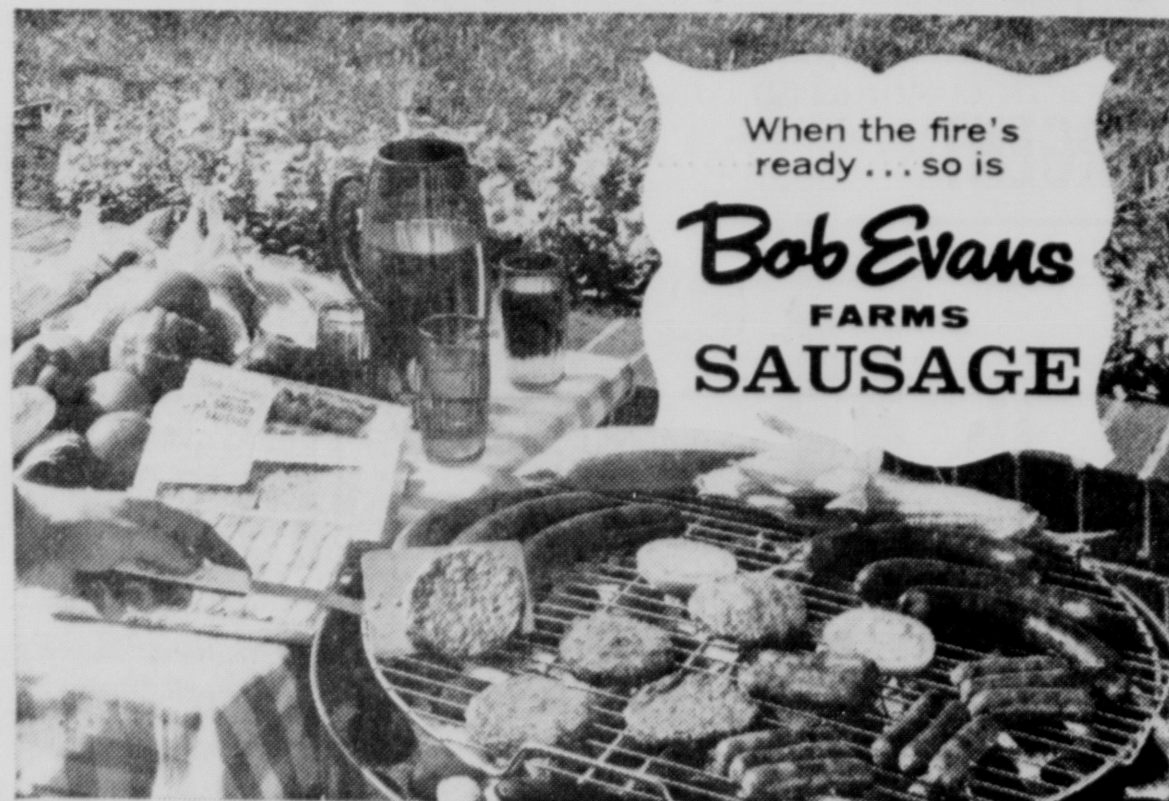

Partly cloudy skies are forecast for tonight and Thursday, with scattered showers likely Thursday afternoon.

Temperatures will be mostly in the 80s today and Thursday and in the 60s tonight.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

OHIO—Temperatures will average 3-5 degree below seasonal normals Thursday through Monday. Representative normal highs and lows: Cleveland 82-60, Columbus 87-63, Cincinnati 87-67. Near normal temperatures Thursday, cooler Friday, sharply colder late Saturday and Sunday, then moderating slowly Monday. Rainfall will average about one-half inch north, three-quarters inch south, as scattered showers Thursday and Friday and more general showers and rain Friday night and Saturday.

Scotland Yard was a plot of land and a palace where Scottish kings stayed when they went to London each year to pay required homage to the English king. The last Scottish sovereign to use the palace was Margaret, widow of James IV of Scotland and sister of Henry VIII of England.

Fire Chief Suspects Arson in Akron Blaze

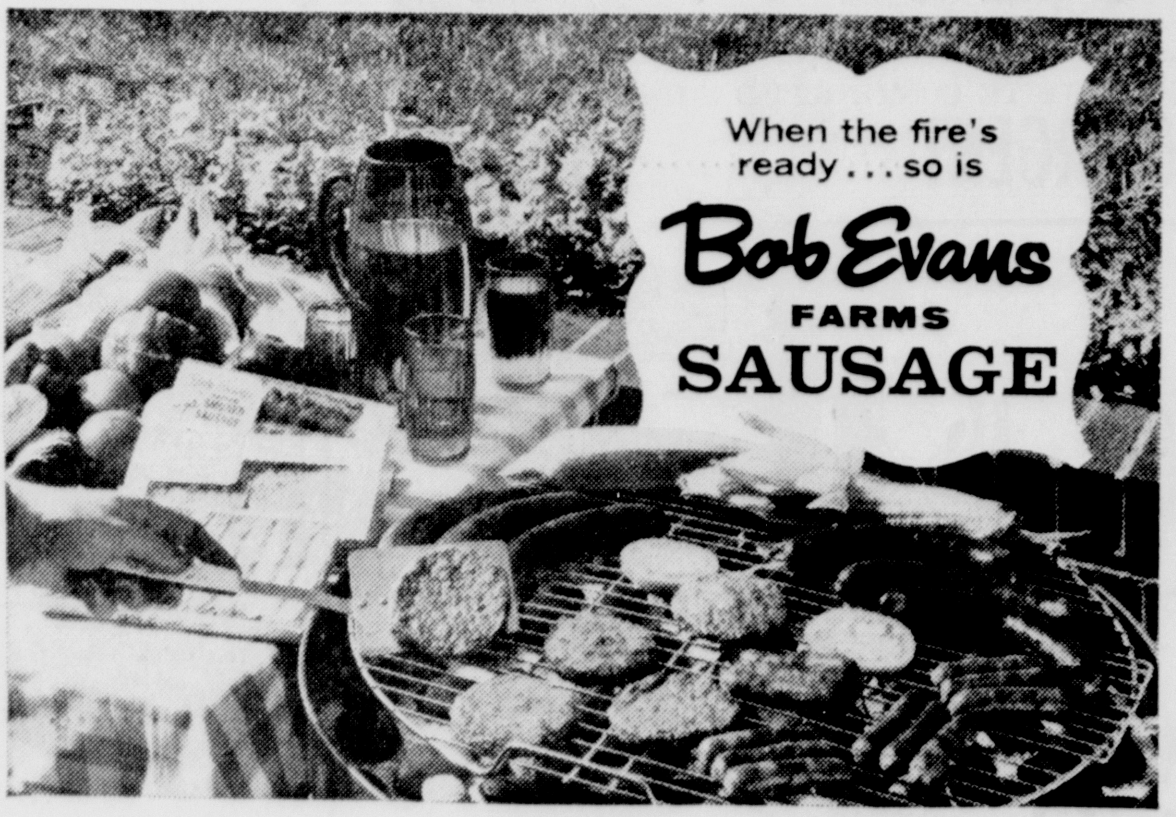

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A fire that did an estimated $100,000 damage at the strike-bound Adjusta - Post Manufacturing Co. was "maliciously started," reported Fire Chief Gerald Vernotzy.

Vernotzy said investigation is continuing into the cause of the blaze that hit the South Side plant Friday night. The plant has been struck since June 27 by 25 employees seeking the Teamsters Union as their bargaining agent.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—A force of Soviet submarines and supporting ships reportedly cruised through the Mediterranean recently, under close scrutiny of a U.S. hunter-killer task force.

The U.S. ships, including one carrier and six destroyers, followed the Soviet subs, took pictures of them and tried to get them to respond to radio signals, it was learned Tuesday night.

Some of the Soviet force entered the Mediterranean through Gibraltar and others from the Black Sea. All are now understood to have returned whence they came.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has received a report that nearly 20 million workers are now covered by federal efforts to achieve equality in all areas of employment.

He told members of the Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity, which he headed when he was vice president, that their report shows "we mean business" in government efforts to wipe out bias in employment.

The President added that despite the large strides made so far much remains to be done.

Adenauer, 88, Embarks on New Career

By CARL HARTMAN
Bonn, Germany (AP) — Former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is starting a new political career at the age of 88—leader of the opposition to his successor's foreign policy.

It's a low-key opposition, but opposition none the less.

Adenauer believes Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's government should work more closely with French President Charles de Gaulle. Erhard, with the American attitude in mind, is wary of De Gaulle.

France and West Germany, Adenauer told this correspondent in an interview Monday, are not significant separately but together they can form a dike against Soviet penetration into Europe.

He quoted De Gaulle as saying: 'I am for German reunification because I don't want to wake up one morning and hear that the Russians are on the banks of the Rhine.'

France and West Germany would form a stronger dike, Adenauer says, if other European nations, including Britain, could be brought to join them. But he has little trust in Britain—especially since he is convinced that Britain is soon going to have a Labor government. It's not that he considers the Labor party to be Communist. He feels that even the British Conservatives lean too much toward Moscow.

Adenauer insists that his friendship for De Gaulle is not directed against the United States, but he feels the need to remind Washington repeatedly of the dangers he sees in trusting Soviet Premier Khrushchev. He appears to share De Gaulle's idea that the United States is turning too much of its attention toward Red China.

De Gaulle and Adenauer had a long talk on Friday that made De Gaulle 10 minutes late for a joint French-West German Cabinet meeting. Adenauer said he had accepted De Gaulle's invitation to visit Paris in the fall.

It was generally thought last October, when he relinquished the chancellorship to Erhard, that Adenauer would fade quietly into political oblivion. He had no such intention.

He got a small but well appointed office in the Bundeshaus West Germany's Capitol, and insisted on remaining chairman of the Christian Democratic party. He writes and speaks with the energy and clarity of a man 30 years younger.

Adenauer is known as a man of few, simple and clear ideas. One is unalterable opposition to communism. Another is the conviction that the Communists are thinking more about taking over Germany than anything else.

He tests every turn in foreign affairs against those ideas.

Prison Farm Melon Theft Bothered Man

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP) — State reformatory officials say a middle-aged man walked into the prison July 4th with a big watermelon under his arm.

The man said his conscience had bothered him since 1947 when he stole a melon from the prison farm. Supt. Jack Young told the man to give the melon to a needy family.

6-Man Space Station Slated for 1969

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A six-man space research station with built-in centrifuge, shower, kitchen, lavatory and other conveniences of home could be orbiting the earth within five years.

That's the conclusion of a report submitted to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration recently by the Douglas Co. missile and space systems division.

NASA last year commissioned Douglas and a main subcontractor, International Business Machines, to define a manned orbiting research laboratory which would test man's physical tolerance and proficiency under extended weightless conditions.

The station also must enable the crew to conduct scientific investigations and to study physical laws and phenomena which will affect the performance of future spacecraft and equipment.

Robert L. Johnson, Douglas vice president for research and engineering, said the proposed lab would orbit for more than a year more than 200 miles above the earth. It would be the size of a large house trailer and would be launched by a Saturn rocket.

The crew would travel to and from the station in modified two-man Gemini or three-man Apollo spacecraft. The six men would return to earth on a staggered schedule, to be replaced by other astronauts.

Johnson reported the laboratory has two provisions to help overcome long-term exposure to weightlessness and the possible adverse effects. The entire laboratory can rotate slowly to provide a small degree of artificial gravity.

Johnson said. In the center of the lab is an on-board centrifuge which can accommodate two men at a time. The centrifuge can whirl them to as high as nine times the force of gravity on earth to simulate re-entry forces, he said.

Space medical experts feel that a form of artificial gravity will be essential for astronauts making trips of a year or more to Mars or Venus. Otherwise, they believe muscle tone and other body systems might weaken so that they would not be able to withstand the re-entry.

Crew quarters and laboratory areas in the space station occupy a sphere-shaped inner pressure shell. The living area occupies half of the sphere and the working area the other half, with the centrifuge between.

There are accommodations for a crew of six, but the design permits comfortable temporary occupancy for eight—the number aboard during periods of crew exchange. There also is room for recreation and physical fitness activities.

The galley has facilities for reconstituting dehydrated food and for making hot and cold drinks. A small refrigerator permits storage of medical supplies and test samples.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "If a man can live and work 600 feet under the sea, he can conquer a frontier as big as the African continent and rich in oil, minerals and food."

This statement was made by Edwin A. Link, 60, a pioneer of underwater exploration, three weeks ago—shortly before he left for the Bahama Islands in his research vessel, Sea Diver.

For two days and nights, under Link's watchful eye, Jon Lindbergh and Robert Stenuit worked, ate and slept on the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean 430 feet below the surface.

Lindbergh, 31, son of aviation's famous pioneer, Charles A. Lindbergh, said "we felt fine all the time."

Link immediately began preparations for a November expedition that will send divers to the 600-foot level, probably in the same area near Great Stirrup Cay in the Bahamas.

"We could have stayed down indefinitely," a smiling Lindbergh said Monday after he and Stenuit, 30, Belgian author and underwater explorer, emerged from a decompression chamber.

Pentagon Saves 2 1/2 Billion in Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara reported Tuesday that his cost-reduction program saved $2.5 billion last year. He won an approving note from President Johnson.

The saving is a billion dollars more than McNamara forecast a year ago would be saved in the 1964 fiscal year by "buying only what we need" and "buying at the lowest sound price."

Prospects for further cost cutting are so good, McNamara said, that he is boosting his long-range goal by $600 million a year, predicting annual savings of $4.6 billion by 1968 and every year after that.

150 Newsmen Assigned To Cover Conventions

More than 150 Associated Press news and photo staffers have been assigned to cover the 1964 national political conventions.

Many of them are top byliners whose names are familiar to readers of this newspaper and newspapers all over America.

Their reports will be transmitted to this newspaper over a network of leased wires set up at the Cow Palace in San Francisco for the Republican convention starting July 13 and at Convention Hall in Atlantic City, N.J., for the Democratic convention Aug. 24.

William L. Beale Jr., Washington AP bureau chief and veteran of 14 national conventions, will direct the news coverage, assisted by Marvin L. Arrow-smith, former White House reporter and now general news editor in Washington.

The arrangements result from months of planning and years of experience in delivering fast, accurate and impartial accounts of national conventions.

Beale assembled a staff of 60 newsmen from AP bureaus across the country to cover around the clock all phases of the conventions—including the back-room maneuvering and news of regional interest. The staff is built around a core of political and government reporters from Washington and New York.

In San Francisco, they will be supplemented by AP bureau chief William J. Waugh's regular 30-man staff of reporters, writers and editors.

Jack Bell, head of The AP's Senate staff for 22 years, and Harry Kelly, another Washington veteran, will handle the main convention stories for afternoon newspapers.

Two well-known byliners, Reiman (Pat) Morin, winner of two Pulitzer prizes, and Saul Pett, will do general assignment and feature stories.

Providing this newspaper's readers with the behind-the-scenes glimpses of political activity will be Arthur Edson, Washington news and feature writer.

James Marlow, news analyst and author of The AP's "The World Today" column, will interpret the developments at both conventions.

Activities of the candidates' wives and of women delegates at the Republican convention will be covered by Frances Lewine of Washington and Doris Klein of Los Angeles. Joy Miller of New York, AP woman's editor, will join Miss Lewine at the Democratic meeting in Atlantic City.

Assigned to the demanding job of reporting convention developments are a crew of men experienced in handling hot, breaking stories. Among them are William F. Arbogast, Raymond J. Crowley, John Beckler, Geoffrey Gould and Wilbur Martin.

Lewis Gulick, Edmond Lebreton and Sterling F. Green

will cover activities and hearings of the platform committees.

The special assignment reporters who traveled with the major candidates and political figures during the recent months of campaigning will stay close to these newsmakers during convention activity.

In addition a corps of about 20 newsmen will cover state delegations for news of special interest to various regions.

Private telephone lines will connect the convention news desks with reporters near the platform and on the floor.

Fifteen operators have been assigned to man the Teletype machines and Wirephoto Transmitters linked to an intricate network of leased wires.

From the convention hall, copy will flow into two national news wires and the national Wirephoto network, with still a third national news wire in reserve for use as needed.

In addition, regional wires will be available to simultaneously transmit special-interest reports to four sections of the country.

Yochum Appointed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes announced Tuesday the appointment of Leonard Yochum of Clinton County to a seven-year term on the Wildlife Council, to succeed Norman A. Amstutz of Lima, resigned.

Wilmington To Buy Water Firm, Cut Rates Sharply

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—The Wilmington City Council has approved the purchase by the city of the Wilmington property of the Clinton County Water Co. for $3,075,000. There also will be a rate reduction for water users.

The Clinton County Water Co. is a private corporation with headquarters in Chicago.

The city will buy the water works system by issuance of mortgage revenue bonds to be paid off with revenue from operation of the water system.

One provision of the purchase agreement calls for a cutback in water rates to those charged as of last April 1. On the basis of a patron's average water usage of 4,000 gallons a month, the rate will be $5.95 as compared with the $7.85 now being paid.

150 Newsmen Assigned To Cover Conventions

More than 150 Associated Press news and photo staffers have been assigned to cover the 1964 national political conventions.

Many of them are top byliners whose names are familiar to readers of this newspaper and newspapers all over America.

Their reports will be transmitted to this newspaper over a network of leased wires set up at the Cow Palace in San Francisco for the Republican convention starting July 13 and at Convention Hall in Atlantic City, N.J., for the Democratic convention Aug. 24.

William L. Beale Jr., Washington AP bureau chief and veteran of 14 national conventions, will direct the news coverage, assisted by Marvin L. Armstrong, former White House reporter and now general news editor in Washington.

The arrangements result from months of planning and years of experience in delivering fast, accurate and impartial accounts of national conventions.

Beale assembled a staff of 60 newsmen from AP bureaus across the country to cover around the clock all phases of the conventions—including the back-room maneuvering and news of regional interest. The staff is built around a core of political and government reporters from Washington and New York.

In San Francisco, they will be supplemented by AP bureau chief William J. Waugh's regular 30-man staff of reporters, writers and editors.

Jack Bell, head of The AP's Senate staff for 22 years, and Harry Kelly, another Washington veteran, will handle the main convention stories for afternoon newspapers.

Two well-known byliners, Reiman (Pat) Morin, winner of two Pulitzer prizes, and Saul Pett, will do general assignment and feature stories.

Providing this newspaper's readers with the behind-the-scenes glimpses of political activity will be Arthur Edson, Washington news and feature writer.

James Marlow, news analyst and author of The AP's "The World Today" column, will interpret the developments at both conventions.

Activities of the candidates' wives and of women delegates at the Republican convention will be covered by Frances Levine of Washington and Doris Klein of Los Angeles. Joy Miller of New York, AP woman's editor, will join Miss Levine at the Democratic meeting in Atlantic City.

Assigned to the demanding job of reporting convention developments are a crew of men experienced in handling hot, breaking stories. Among them are William F. Arbogast, Raymond J. Crowley, John Beckler, Geoffrey Gould and Wilbur Martin.

will cover activities and hearings of the platform committees.

The special assignment reporters who traveled with the major candidates and political figures during the recent months of campaigning will stay close to these newsmakers during convention activity.

In addition a corps of about 20 newsmen will cover state delegations for news of special interest to various regions.

Private telephone lines will connect the convention news desks with reporters near the platform and on the floor.

Fifteen operators have been assigned to man the Teletype machines and Wirephoto Transmitters linked to an intricate network of leased wires.

From the convention hall, copy will flow into two national news wires and the national Wirephoto network, with still a third national news wire in reserve for use as needed.

In addition, regional wires will be available to simultaneously transmit special-interest reports to four sections of the country.

Lumbermen, Mac's Goodyear Cop Wins in Mosquito Loop

Circleville Lumber continued its mastery of the Mosquito League, walloping Hill Implement, 20-7. Mac's Goodyear evened its record at 4-4 for the season, edging Pickaway Dairy by a 9-7 count.

Both games were halted at the end of five innings by rain. Jim Whaley was the winning pitcher for the Lumbermen. He walked two and fanned three. Dave Truex, who relieved, walked 10 and whiffed seven. Whaley gave up two singles while Truex was touched for one.

THE LOSING hurler was Jeff Arledge. He walked six and allowed two hits. Tom Taylor completed the game, walking eight and allowing 10 hits.

The leading hitter was Dave Truex who collected four safeties in four times at bat and scored five runs. He was credited with a homerun, a triple and a pair of singles.

Whaley belted a double and a single while Tom Shea blasted a homerun and a double.

The Lumbermen scored three runs in the bottom of the first inning to take a lead they never relinquished. They added seven in the second, two in the third, another pair in the fourth and came up with six in the bottom of the fifth.

In the Mac-Pickaway tilt, the winners went on top by scoring one run in the top of the first frame. In the second they added another while the Dairy men scored one.

The third frame saw the Dairy unit knot the game at 4-4 by scoring three runs while the Tirenmen tallied two.

IN THE bottom of the fourth they went ahead with a run, but the winners exploded for five in the top of the fifth—four of the runs coming with two men out—to take the lead.

In the bottom of the inning the Dairy men scored two runs on an error.

Kris Kline was the winning pitcher. He relieved Bill Halstenberg in the top of the fourth with the Dairy team on top, 5-4.

He walked three, fanned four and was touched for three hits. Halstenberg walked three, hit two batters, fanned six and allowed four hits.

Mike Goldsberry started for the losers and walked seven, fanned two and allowed three hits. He was relieved by Jerry Boltenhouse who whiffed eight, was touched for four hits and walked five.

Halstenberg set the pace at the plate for the winners, cracking a pair of doubles in four turns at bat. Doug Spangler's triple in the top of the fifth with two men on base put the Tirenmen ahead. He moved on home on an error to score his second run of the evening.

KLINE aided his own cause by belting a double that scored Mark Mills for the final run for the winners.

Wielding a big bat was Goldsberry. He hit two doubles, a single and a triple in four turns at bat.

Graig Lund hit a single and a double in four times up as the two Dairy men collected six of the seven hits for his losers.

60 Women Golfers Enter U.S. Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Led by defending champion Mary Mills and three-time winner Mickey Wright, a field of almost 60 go into play Thursday in the 12th annual United States Women's Open Golf Championship.

The setting is the par 73, 6,470-yard San Diego Country Club course which, for tall, blonde Miss Wright, holds few mysteries.

A hometown product, Mickey, who now calls Dallas home, has played the course "hundreds of times."

Miss Mills, from Gulf Hills, Miss., won the title at Cincinnati's Kenwood Club.

Only five holes-in-one were scored on the PGA tour this spring, through the U.S. Open.

Circleville Oil, 1st National Win LL Tilts

Circleville Oil, applying a four-run last inning rally, sneaked by the Savings Bank, 9-8 and the First National Bank cracked the Jaycees, 12-8, in yesterday's Little League minor division action.

The Oilmen, currently pacing the Black half of the league with a 6-2 mark, scored two runs in the third inning, three in the fourth, before winning the tilt with the big sixth inning.

The Savings Bank, holding down second slot in the red division with a 5-3 record, scored two in the first, one in the second, one in the fourth and four in the fifth.

Denny Zwyer started for Circleville Oil and allowed all the losers' runs. Bryon Weaver relieved him in the sixth inning, and blanked the Bankers. Zwyer fanned three, while Weaver whiffed one.

CHRIS MORGAN powered a homerun with the bases stacked in the last inning to win the game for the Oilmen. Zwyer poled a roundtripper, and Dick Sark added a triple, double and single.

Paul Garrison took the loss for the Savings Bank, going the distance and allowing 11 hits. Garrison fanned nine batters.

Jeff Thompson hit a homerun and a single for the losers, Garrison hit a triple and Mike Hamrick collected two three baggers.

In the First Bank-Jaycee tilt, the winning Bankers exploded for six runs in the fourth inning, to break a 6-6 tie, and then went on to win 12-8.

Mike Sabine went all the way for the Bank win. He allowed seven hits.

Sabine collected three singles and a triple at the plate for the Bankers, and Bill Ridley powered a double.

Paul Town started for the Jaycees. He fired until the fourth when John Hunt took the mound. Town was the losing pitcher.

Hunt hit a triple and a single, while David McCain hit a double.

Brodie, Kilmer Back with 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The return to health of John Brodie and Bill Kilmer could help the San Francisco 49ers surprise critics who believe that lack of trades means lack of improvement, says Coach Jack Christiansen.

Christiansen told newsmen Tuesday that quarterback Brodie's broken right arm and half-back Kilmer's shattered right leg are clinically sound and ready for the opening 49er workout July 18.

"There's lots of talk back East that the 49ers will be last again (in the National Football League) because we made no big trades. But we feel we have filled our spots by getting those men back," said Christiansen, adding the names of safety Jerry Mertens, tackle Charlie Krueger and lineman Walter Rock, all also hurt much of 1963.

Indians Stir Up Trouble for Orioles

CLEVELAND (AP) — If the Cleveland Indians can continue playing as well against Baltimore as they have so far this season, the Orioles may be in for some trouble.

The Tribe, idle since Monday because of the All-Star game, opens a four-game series against Baltimore with a two-night doubleheader Thursday night.

Cleveland has beaten the first-place Orioles four out of five times.

Major Loops To Resume Annual Chase for Flags

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With the mid-summer break over, major league baseball resumes the serious business of pennant races today with two important questions to be answered.

Can the Philadelphia Phillies go all the way in the National League, and is this one of those rare years that the New York Yankees lose the pennant in the American?

Ohio Amateur Stalled by Heavy Rain

CINCINNATI (AP)—The rain finally went away, but players in the 58th Ohio Amateur Golf Tournament hoped it would not come again another day, soon. Persistent rain washed out the first qualifying round at the par 72 Maketewah Country Club course Tuesday. Today's forecast was for occasional showers in the morning but clearing and warmer in the afternoon.

None of Tuesday's scores were counted by the Ohio Golf Association which said today's 63 low scorers will join defending champion Bob Bourne of Oberlin in match play.

The rest of the tournament's schedule is unchanged. It calls for two 18-hole rounds both Thursday and Friday, 36-hole semifinals Saturday and a 36-hole championship match Sunday.

Some of Tuesday's players reported they were under par on the 6,549-yard layout. But there was no dispute the course had become unplayable.

Rain Halts 4 Baseball Tilts

Inclement weather caused postponement of four scheduled games last night in the Circleville Youth Baseball Program.

Games halted were: Blue Ribbon Dairy vs Third National Bank, Logan Elm vs Du Pont, Ward's Market vs Rotary, and Third National Bank vs VFW.

The Blue Ribbon Dairy-Third National Bank tilt will be played tonight at 5:15 on the Fairgrounds Little League diamond.

All other games will be rescheduled later, according to Bob Wellington, youth baseball supervisor.

Phillie pennant stock got a big boost in Tuesday's All-Star game with the three-run homer by Johnny Callison which broke up the game and two shutout innings by Jim (Perfect Game) Bunning for the NL stars.

Gene Mauch's Phillies get back into action tonight at home against the St. Louis Cardinals. Second place San Francisco is at Chicago for a day doubleheader and Cincinnati plays at Pittsburgh at night. There are no games scheduled in the American League.

Mauch hopes his club can maintain the momentum it picked up with a three-game sweep of the Giants last weekend that vaulted the Phillies into first place.

Manipulating a team which failed to place a player above third in balloting for the NL All-Star squad, Mauch has gotten tight pitching, a strong defense and clutch hitting from the Phillies.

Much the same qualities have kept the Baltimore Orioles and Chicago White Sox in front of the Yankees in the AL.

The Orioles, leading by three games over Chicago and New York in the AL, have gotten power hitting from Boog Powell and outstanding pitching from rookie Wally Bunker.

Bunker has pitched two one-hitters and Powell has 21 home runs, including a string of seven in a stretch of five days last month.

The White Sox have an outstanding record of 44 wins and 20 losses against eight other AL clubs but are 0-10 against New York. Yet Al Lopez' club has managed to bounce back every time it dropped a series to the Yankees and is three percentage points in front of the perennial champions.

Van Camp Pacer Slated At Northfield Park

Steamin Lady, owned by Mrs. George Van Camp of Circleville, will be pacing from the No. 3 slot when she faces a field of crack juveniles in the fifth dash tonight at Northfield Park, Cleveland.

The 2-year-old filly will have trainer Jack Betts at the reins as she faces Hope Time, who will be seeking his fourth triumph in as many starts, as well as Kentucky, Miss Hulda Ann, Leonardo Pick, Yaday Trace, Manor Caprice and Tennessee Swift.

Army's football team will meet Texas and Iowa State for the first time next fall.

Toledo Awaits Lakes Festival

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Lucas County Recreation Center in nearby Maumee, which 14 months ago was just another seldom-used county fairgrounds, will be the scene of a sports smorgasbord this weekend. Hundreds of athletes and thousands of spectators are expected.

The four-day event, called the Great Lakes Festival, will be highlighted by a three-day swimming meet in the center's new $330,000 swimming pool complex. Also scheduled are a track meet, shuffleboard and horseshoe pitching tournaments, karate demonstrations, baseball games, beauty contests, and assorted side attractions.

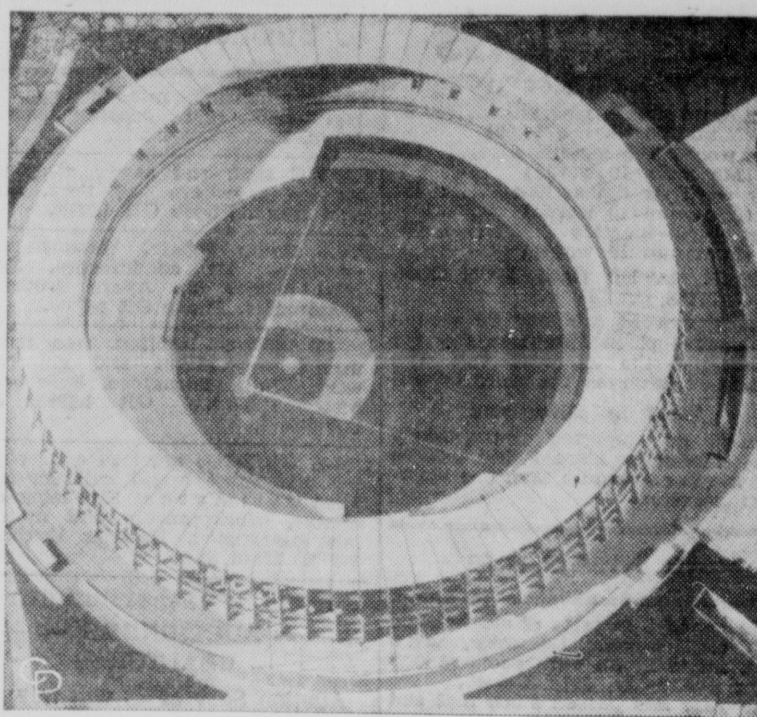

The swimming meet, with 1,200 entries expected, opens the center's pool complex, which includes a 16-foot deep diving pool with one-and-three-meter boards and five-and 10-meter platforms; a 165-by-75-foot swimming-racing pool and a 60-by-75-foot wading and warmup pool.

In all, about $1.25 million has been spent in converting the old Fort Miami fairgrounds into a 90-acre sports center. The total includes the $500,000 recreation hall still under construction.

Among those entered in the 94-event swimming meet is former world record holder Chet Jastremski of Toledo.

The track meet Friday night also is attracting some of the top talent in the nation. Uli Williams, second in the Olympic Trials' 400-meter dash last week, and Don Webster, fifth in the 200-meter trial, are entered.

Pitching coach Tom Ferrick of the Kansas City Athletics won 13 games as a 1936 rookie with Greenwood, Miss., in the Cotton States League.

HOME OF THE BRAVES?—This is a model of the new Atlanta, Ga., sports stadium which may become the home field next year of the Braves, now representing Milwaukee in the National League. It would be the second move of the Braves franchise—the club having transferred from Boston to the Wisconsin city in 1953.

Lumbermen, Mac's Goodyear Cop Wins in Mosquito Loop

Circleville Lumber continued its mastery of the Mosquito League, walloping Hill Implement, 20-7. Mac's Goodyear evened its record at 4-4 for the season, edging Pickaway Dairy by a 9-7 count.

Both games were halted at the end of five innings by rain. Jim Whaley was the winning pitcher for the Lumbermen. He walked two and fanned three. Dave Truex, who relieved, walked 10 and whiffed seven. Whaley gave up two singles while Truex was touched for one.

60 Women Golfers Enter U.S. Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Led by defending champion Mary Mills and three-time winner Mickey Wright, a field of almost 60 go into play Thursday in the 12th annual United States Women's Open Golf Championship.

The setting is the par 73, 6,470-yard San Diego Country Club course which, for tall, blonde Miss Wright, holds few mysteries.

A hometown product, Mickey, who now calls Dallas home, has played the course "hundreds of times."

Miss Mills, from Gulf Hills, Miss., won the title at Cincinnati's Kenwood Club.

Circleville Oil, 1st National Win LL Tilts

Circleville Oil, applying a four-run last inning rally, sneaked by the Savings Bank, 9-8 and the First National Bank cracked the Jaycees, 12-8, in yesterday's Little League minor division action.

The Oilmen, currently pacing the Black half of the league with a 6-2 mark, scored two runs in the third inning, three in the fourth, before winning the tilt with the big sixth inning.

The Savings Bank, holding down second slot in the red division with a 5-3 record, scored two in the first, one in the second, one in the fourth and four in the fifth.

Denny Zwyer started for Circleville Oil and allowed all the losers' runs. Bryon Weaver relieved him in the sixth inning, and blanked the Bankers. Zwyer fanned three, while Weaver whiffed one.

CHRIS MORGAN powered a homerun with the bases stacked in the last inning to win the game for the Oilmen. Zwyer poled a roundtripper, and Dick Sark added a triple, double and single.

Paul Garrison took the loss for the Savings Bank, going the distance and allowing 11 hits. Garrison fanned nine batters.

Jeff Thompson hit a homerun and a single for the losers. Garrison hit a triple and Mike Hamrick collected two three baggers.

In the First Bank-Jaycee tilt, the winning Bankers exploded for six runs in the fourth inning, to break a 6-6 tie, and then went on to win 12-8.

Mike Sabine went all the way for the Bank win. He allowed seven hits.

Sabine collected three singles and a triple at the plate for the Bankers, and Bill Ridley powered a double.

Paul Town started for the Jaycees. He fired until the fourth when John Hunt took the mound. Town was the losing pitcher.

Hunt hit a triple and a single, while David McCain hit a double.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The return to health of John Brodie and Bill Kilmer could help the San Francisco 49ers surprise critics who believe that lack of trades means lack of improvement, says Coach Jack Christiansen.

Christiansen told newsmen Tuesday that quarterback Brodie's broken right arm and half-back Kilmer's shattered right leg are clinically sound and ready for the opening 49er workout July 18.

"There's lots of talk back East that the 49ers will be last again (in the National Football League) because we made no big trades. But we feel we have filled our spots by getting those men back," said Christiansen, adding the names of safety Jerry Mertens, tackle Charlie Krueger and lineman Walter Rock, all also hurt much of 1963.

Indians Stir Up Trouble for Orioles

CLEVELAND (AP) — If the Cleveland Indians can continue playing as well against Baltimore as they have so far this season, the Orioles may be in for some trouble.

The Tribe, idle since Monday because of the All-Star game, opens a four-game series against Baltimore with a twin-night doubleheader Thursday night.

Cleveland has beaten the first-place Orioles four out of five times.

Major Loops To Resume Annual Chase for Flags

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the mid-summer break over, major league baseball resumes the serious business of pennant races today with two important questions to be answered.

Can the Philadelphia Phillies go all the way in the National League, and is this one of those rare years that the New York Yankees lose the pennant in the American?

Phillie pennant stock got a big boost in Tuesday's All-Star game with the three-run homer by Johnny Callison which broke up the game and two shutout innings by Jim (Perfect Game) Bunning for the NL stars.

Gene Mauch's Phillies get back into action tonight at home against the St. Louis Cardinals. Second place San Francisco is at Chicago for a day double-header and Cincinnati plays at Pittsburgh at night. There are no games scheduled in the American League.

Mauch hopes his club can maintain the momentum it picked up with a three-game sweep of the Giants last weekend that vaulted the Phillies into first place.

Manipulating a team which failed to place a player above third in balloting for the NL All-Star squad, Mauch has gotten tight pitching, a strong defense and clutch hitting from the Phillies.

Much the same qualities have kept the Baltimore Orioles and Chicago White Sox in front of the Yankees in the AL.

The Orioles, leading by three games over Chicago and New York in the AL, have gotten power hitting from Boog Powell and outstanding pitching from rookie Wally Bunker.

Bunker has pitched two one-hitters and Powell has 21 home runs, including a string of seven in a stretch of five days last month.

The White Sox have an outstanding record of 44 wins and 20 losses against eight other AL clubs but are 0-10 against New York. Yet Al Lopez' club has managed to bounce back every time it dropped a series to the Yankees and is three percent age points in front of the perennial champions.

Pitching coach Tom Ferrick of the Kansas City Athletics won 13 games as a 1936 rookie with Greenwood, Miss., in the Cotton States League.

STEAMIN LADY, owned by Mrs. George Van Camp of Circleville, will be pacing from the No. 3 slot when she faces a field of crack juveniles in the fifth dash tonight at Northfield Park, Cleveland.

The 2-year-old filly will have trainer Jack Betts at the reins as she faces Hope Time, who will be seeking his fourth triumph in as many starts, as well as Kentuck. Miss Hulda Ann, Leonardo Pick, Yaday Trace, Manor Caprice and Tennessee Swift.

Army's football team will meet Texas and Iowa State for the first time next fall.

Inclement weather caused postponement of four scheduled games last night in the Circleville Youth Baseball Program.

Games halted were: Blue Ribbon Dairy vs Third National Bank, Logan Elm vs Du Pont, Ward's Market vs Rotary, and Third National Bank vs VFW.

The Blue Ribbon Dairy-Third National Bank tilt will be played tonight at 5:15 on the Fairgrounds Little League diamond.

All other games will be rescheduled later, according to Bob Wellington, youth baseball supervisor.

In Memoriam

In loving memories of our beloved one Carl Eugene Cummins, who was killed in an auto accident one year ago today, July 8, 1963.
One year has passed since that sad day.
The one we love was called away.
The call was sudden, the shock severe.
With little thought that death was near.
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of passing without a farewell.
While he sleeps a peaceful sleep.
His memory we shall always keep.
Sadly missed by his mother Mrs.
Bernice J. Cummins, brothers, Kenneth and Gerald, relatives and friends.

In Memoriam

In loving memories of our beloved one Carl Eugene Cummings who was killed in an auto accident one year ago today, July 8, 1963.
One year has passed since that sad
day.
The one we love was called away.
The call was sudden, the shock severe.
We little thought that death was near.
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of passing without a farewell.
While he sleeps a peaceful sleep.
His memory we shall always keep.
Sad to miss his mother, Mrs.
Bernice J. Cummings, brothers, Kenneth and Gerald, relatives and friends.

NL Evens Count with AL Stars After 31 Years of Warfare

NEW YORK (AP) — It took the National League 31 years to draw even with the American in All-Star warfare Tuesday and in the end it was an ex-American Leaguer who did it.

Wondrous Willie Mays, as usual, starred in the field and on the bases. Billy Williams and Ken Boyer smashed home runs. Jim Bunning and Juan Marichal pitched superbly. But the hero of the National's 7-4 triumph was Johnny Callison, who was not even voted on the All-Star team.

Callison, a personal pick by Manager Walter Alston, came up in the bottom of the ninth inning with two out, two on and the score tied at 4-4. He walloped Dick Radatz' first pitch into the second deck over Shea Stadium's right field bullpen to square the All-Star series at 17 victories apiece.

After the 1949 game, the AL led 12-4. The NL has won 13, lost 5 and tied one of the last 19. The 25-year-old Philadelphia Phillies' outfielder, selected by Alston as the 25th man because of the National League's need for left-handed pinch hitting strength, had entered the game in the fifth inning, hitting for pitcher Jim Bunning.

"He beat us enough," said Alston, managing his fourth winning All-Star squad in six attempts. "I figured he owed us something."

In a recent series at Los Angeles, Callison hit two home runs in two games against Alston's Dodgers.

Next to Radatz, the most charged man on the American League squad was Manager Al Lopez, who has yet to be on a winning All-Star squad. He lost four times as a manager, twice as a player and three times as a coach.

"And to think that before the game I shook hands with Johnny and wished him luck," said Lopez.

It was Lopez, who traded Callison, then a 20-year-old Chicago White Sox hopeful, to the Phillies in the winter of 1959 for third baseman Gene Freese.

Callison said he did not get any special pleasure out of beating his old boss.

"I never faulted Lopez for trading me," he said. "I felt then the deal was good for me because I would have more of an opportunity to play with Philadelphia."

Radatz, Boston's brilliant relief pitcher, was invincible in the seventh and eighth innings when he struck out four of the six batters he faced.

The giant right-hander, who has been dubbed "The Monster" by opposing hitters, was nursing a 4-3 lead when Willie Mays opened the ninth by drawing a walk.

Willie, who had contributed two sparkling plays in the field although going hitless, promptly stole second. Orlando Cepeda singled to short right, Mays, holding up because he feared the ball might be caught, could go only as far as third.

Joe Pepitone, after retrieving the ball, fired it to the plate. The ball skidded past the catcher to the screen and Willie slid across the plate with the tying run. Cepeda took second on the throw.

Radatz bore down and disposed of the dangerous Ken Boyer on a pop-up. He walked John Edwards intentionally before fanning pinch hitter Henry Aaron. Then came the fateful pitch to Callison.

Until the final pitch Radatz, Baltimore's Brooks Robinson and Kansas City's Rocky Colavito had been the heroes. Robinson, who also contributed a fine fielding play at third base, had put the American Leaguers back in the ball game in the sixth inning. With Philadelphia's Chris Short on the mound, Robinson tripped to right center, driving in two runs to tie the score at 3-3.

Colavito, a last hour replacement for the injured Al Kaline, doubled as a pinch hitter in the seventh, moving Elston Howard to third. Howard scored the lead run on Jim Fregosi's sacrifice fly.

The victory went to San Francisco's Juan Marichal, fifth NL pitcher, who hurled a scoreless ninth.

A crowd of 50,850, largest All-Star gathering since the 1959 game in Los Angeles, saw 37 players perform, 20 wearing National League uniforms.

Hutch Denies Plan To Quit

Redlegs Owner Joins Disavowal

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'll quit only if they fire me or if the man upstairs tells me," Cincinnati's manager, Fred Hutchinson, said Tuesday, "and my health is all right."

The tall, stoop-shouldered pilot, battling cancer, used this poignant statement to spike a rumor originating in Cincinnati that he would use the All-Star baseball game as a stage for announcing his resignation.

Reports were that Hutchinson, serving as a member of the National League coaching staff, would issue a statement immediately after the game at Shea Stadium.

Bill DeWitt, president and owner of the Reds, was surprised by the rumors and joined his manager in knocking them down.

"This is news to me," DeWitt said, shortly before the game. "Fred is doing fine and he's our manager, until he says otherwise. We wouldn't think of replacing him."

Hutchinson, a one-time Detroit pitcher and manager, learned last winter that he had a malignancy in the lung.

During spring training, he took things easy. He could not stay in the sun for extended periods of time. He rode around the field in a golf cart, and some of his duties were taken over by coaches.

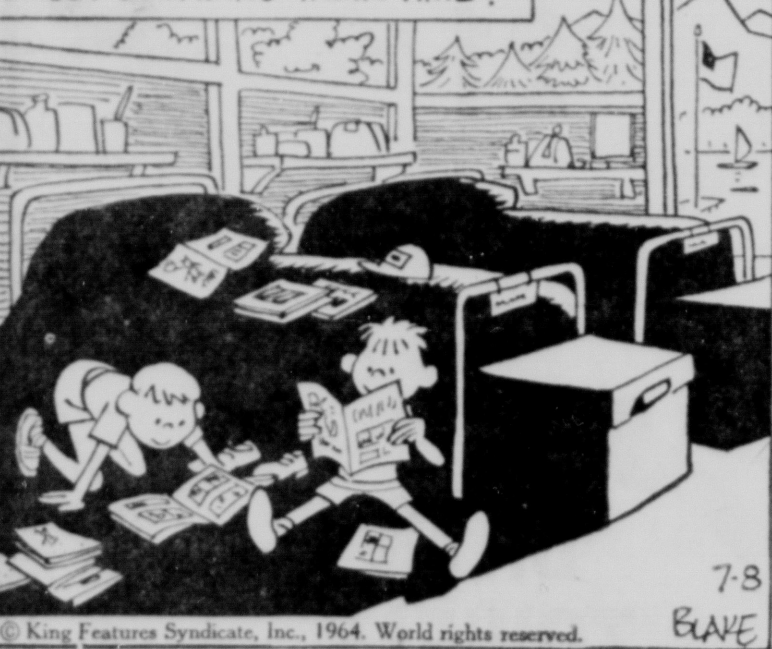

Recently he left the team and returned to Seattle to be examined by his brother, a physician.

At that time, a statement was made that there was no further need for treatment.

Golden Boy Out To Test St. Andrews

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Golden Boy Jack Nicklaus, who has won a million playing golf, set out today to prove something no one ever has done — beat the St. Andrews Old Course without knowing much about it.

The American went into the 1964 British Open Championship a 7-2 favorite after having played the 6,926-yard par 72 layout only once.

He shot a 71 Tuesday in wind and rain after doing seven holes the day before.

In the betting, the field of 120 was stretched out behind him, including the defending British Open king, Bob Charles of New Zealand.

Single rounds today and Thursday will reduce the field to the low 45 and ties for the 36-hole windup Friday.

The American challenge led by Nicklaus and Tony Lema spreadeagled the thinking in most quarters. British bookies, who will take almost any bet, were exceedingly wary about home-grown talent.

Among the eight Americans competing was Johnny Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz., who turned 50 just last month.

Bulla, now making a sentimental return to St. Andrews where he finished second twice, was quoted at 100 to 1.

One Hit Wins For Jacksonville

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pete Cimino and Jim Rantz of Atlanta combined to allow Jacksonville just one hit. But the Crackers didn't win.

The Suns scored an unearned run in the sixth inning to beat Atlanta 1-0 Tuesday night and push the Crackers deeper into the International League cellar. Jacksonville upped its league lead to three games.

Syracuse beat Buffalo 5-3 and Rochester edged Toronto 3-2 in 11 innings. Columbus and Richmond were rained out.

The only hit off Cimino came in the fourth inning, a double by Joe Morgan. Rantz allowed none in his one inning of relief.

Jacksonville pushed across the game's lone run in the sixth when the Atlanta infield committed two errors.
